

Little Contact With Enemy

Allies Move Into A Shau

SAIGON (AP) — U. S. and South Vietnamese infantry battalions have finally moved into the A Shau valley but no significant contact with the enemy was reported today.

Associated Press Correspondent J. T. Wolkerstorfer reported from Lavang, the forward command post for the operation, that at least one battalion of about 400 troops from the U. S. 101st Airborne Division and sizable South Vietnamese units had been committed to the A Shau operation.

For the past week, U. S. and South Vietnamese reconnaissance teams have been operating in the 30-mile-long valley trying to find enemy targets to attack. Allied firebases have been set up all around the jungled valley to support the operation, which is named Lam Son 720, the successor to the South Vietnamese invasion of Laos, which was Lam Son 719.

The 101st Airborne is providing both helicopter and ground support for the operation.

One American field officer said the operation "will last as long as we have targets. You can expect us to operate all the way west to the Laotian border until the monsoons start."

The monsoon rains are expected to begin in about three weeks.

The valley 375 miles north of Saigon is just east of Base Area 611, a major North Vietnamese supply depot on the Ho Chi Minh trail network in southern Laos. The valley is an enemy infiltration corridor and supply transshipment point into the northern quarter of South Vietnam.

Although no action was reported in the valley, the U. S. Command said American fighter-bombers and helicopter gunships attacked a North Vietnamese column nine miles east of the A Shau on Monday and killed 30 of the enemy.

U. S. B52 bombers ranged over wide areas to attack North Vietnamese supply depots in South Vietnam, Cambodia and Laos. The eight-jet Stratofortresses flew more than 50 strikes Monday and today, dropping 1,500 tons of bombs along the demilitarized zone in the northwestern corner of South Vietnam, north of Highway 9 in the Laotian panhandle and north of Highway 7 in eastern Cambodia. The two highways are key infiltration corridors and supply routes into South Vietnam.

South Vietnamese headquarters reported two clashes in the Mekong delta, one of them in the U Minh forest 145 miles southwest of Saigon. A communique said 39 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong were killed in the two clashes, while Saigon losses were one killed and six wounded.

The U. S. Navy announced the impending withdrawal of three Seabee units,

Former Supervisor
'Lynn' Raymond Dies

Elmer Lynn Raymond, 62, a former Tehama County Supervisor, and more recently interim Tehama County Planner, died late Sunday in Corning Memorial Hospital. Mr. Raymond, a 50-year resident of the Corning area, was a member of the Planning Commission for several years prior to his retirement last year. He had been in failing health for several months, and succumbed only a few hours after entering the hospital.

A native of Alberta, Canada, he came to Corning with his family in 1921. He was a county supervisor from 1950 to 1958, a long-time member of the Independent Grange, active in the county Regional Fire Department, and a past president of the California State Soil Conservation Districts.

Surviving are his wife, Doris, two sons, Elmer of Red Bluff, and Lee of Corning, two daughters, May Baldwin of Corning, and Shirley Janes of Harrisburg, Ore., a sister, Pearl Hill of Portland, Ore., a half-brother, Walter Rymerson of Fresno, and eight grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. tomorrow in Hall Brothers' Chapel, with burial to follow in Sunset Hill Cemetery.

Friends are invited to call between 7 and 9 o'clock tonight at the mortuary.

Airport Operations
On Council Agenda

Red Bluff city councilmen tonight will consider requests of two airport operators to be reconsidered for the Red Bluff airport contract.

R.J. East of Santa Rosa Flight School, Inc., Santa Rosa, asked the city, through its airport commission, to reconsider his firm's bid to operate the field.

East contends that the operation should be complete, with the airport operator running not merely fuel sales, but the restaurant, the flight school, aircraft rental and charter and other services.

He feels the restaurant "is a white elephant" that will lose money and require financial transfusions from the operator's gas revenue.

Jack Holcomb, owner of Aerocustom of Red Bluff, and prime candidate for the contract, proposes subleasing most of the field's operation.

Also asking reconsideration is Redding Sky Ranch. The company is planning to phase out its Redding operation.

Both Santa Rosa and Redding would make their headquarters in Red Bluff.

The council at its 7:30 p.m. session will be asked to grant the local Little League $10,000 for lights at Jackson Heights and to review the Chamber of Commerce budget request.

$2 Per Hour Wage
Minimum Introduced

WASHINGTON (AP) — Legislation for a quick increase in the minimum wage from $1.60 to $2 per hour was introduced today by Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., of the House Ways and Means Committee, as another committee opened hearings on a slower raise.

Mills' committee does not handle wage legislation, which is before the House Education and Labor Committee.

He said, however, he made his move to encourage prompt action for a double reason:

— The economy needs the stimulation provided by increased purchasing power.

— The minimum wage directly relates to welfare reform, on which the Ways and Means Committee is working.

An increase in the minimum wage, Mills said, would substantially reduce the cost of the proposed new welfare program, which for the first time would provide benefits for the "working poor" — those fully employed but not earning enough to lift their families above the poverty level.

The principal bill before the Education and Labor Committee, sponsored by Rep. John H. Dent, D-Pa., and Chairman Carl D. Perkins, D-Ky., would increase the minimum hourly wage for non-agricultural workers from the present $1.60

Early Voting Light
In Tehama County
School Elections

Early-hours voting was light this morning in Tehama County school elections.

In many of the districts, including Red Bluff, there was no contest.

In three districts, however, there were school finance matters before the voters. But even there the early vote was light.

In Antelope, with 1,400 eligible to vote, the number at 10 a.m. was 60. In Elkins, with 125 eligible, the number was 8. In Flournoy, with 150 eligible, the number was 10.

All districts, however, expected much heavier voting in the afternoon.

Sacred Heart School
Registering New Pupils During April

Registrations are now being taken for the first grade at Sacred Heart School and will continue until the end of April, according to the principal, Sister Mary Carolita.

Baptismal or birth certificates and health information are needed to register the new students.

Parents who are interested in enrolling children in other grades may do so at this time. Also, parents who are not of the Roman Catholic faith but who would like to enroll their children in the school, may register this month.

The school is open for registrations from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Woman Driver's Late
Decision To Turn
Ends In Auto Crash

A sudden decision by a woman driver to make a left turn from a right lane of Antelope Blvd. ended in two crunched cars, according to the California Highway Patrol.

Sam Swann Crowley, Jr., 44, of Red Bluff was traveling east at the intersection of Highway 36E when Mrs. Ann Cecelia Hennessy, 68, of Mantion turned left into Crowley's car, apparently making a belated decision to take the northbound highway.

Both vehicles were damaged in the accident, but no one was injured.

Blood Bank Visits
Hospital Tomorrow;
Blood 'Sorely Needed'

The Blood Bank will make its monthly visit tomorrow at St. Elizabeth Hospital from 2 to 6 p.m. as the reminder given today by Mrs. Clara Parker, chairman.

"The people have been generous in responding," Mrs. Parker said, "but we are sorely in need of more donations."

Although not necessary, appointments are urged and may be made by calling the hospital and asking for the lab, 527-2112, ext. 242.

Signups Wednesday
For Kindergarten

Registration of kindergarten students for the next school year will take place on Wednesday, Superintendent of Schools Glen Smith announced today.

Registration will be held in the morning and afternoon according to geographical areas of residence using the following schedule:

Lincoln Street School: All children residing north of Brewery Creek will register between 9:00 a.m. and 12:00 noon. Those residing south of Brewery Creek and north of Walnut Street will register between 1:00 p.m. and 4:00 p.m.

Jackson Heights School: All children living south of Reed's Creek except those in Riverside Estates will register between 9:00 a.m. and 12:00 noon. Those living between Walnut Street and Reed's Creek, in Riverside Estates and east of the Sacramento River will register between 1:00 p.m. and 4:00 p.m.

The following times—8:00 a.m. to 9:00 a.m.; 12:00 noon to 1:00 p.m.; and 4:00 p.m. to 5:00 p.m.—will be reserved for those parents who are unable to come in at the regularly scheduled times.

The child must attain the age of five on or before December 2, 1971, to legally begin school. The birthdate of the child must be verified by an appropriate document. State law requires verification of polio and measles immunization or a statement signed by the parent that the child has had these diseases. Failure to verify any of the above items will void the registration.

If there are any questions about the registration procedures, parents may call Lincoln Street School at 527-7640 or Jackson Heights at 527-7150.

Public Hearing Set On Highway Rerouting

A public hearing on re-routing Highway 36 through Red Bluff is scheduled tomorrow at 1:15 p.m.

Red Bluff's planning commission will hear arguments for and against the several proposed routes which would take the major east-west highway off Main Street and route it over Oak Street.

Two primary plans discussed would put the road on Oak Street to Jackson Street where it would turn north to Walnut Street.

On one route, the highway would be Walnut to O'Connor Road where it would bend north, merge with Baker Road and connect with the present highway northwest of Red Bluff.

Another route would put the road on Walnut for only two blocks, turning it north again on Johnson Street to Park Avenue. At Park the re-routed road would travel west to O'Connor Road. After turning north on O'Connor it would follow the first choice route to the present Highway 36.

A truck route also is proposed. This route would skirt the south city limits on Luther Road between South Main Street and Paskenta Road.

Planning commissioners again will be asked to decide if Ortho Vivian of 634 Main St., can rent apartments above his barbershop without providing parking for his tenant's cars.

Previously, the commission failed to have enough members to make a recommendation to the city and sent it to the Red Bluff city council without suggesting what course the city should take.

The city dumped the matter back on the planning board

Mixed Reactions On
Lon Nol Retirement

PHNOM PENH (AP) — Some observers in Phnom Penh viewed the resignation today of Premier Lon Nol as a maneuver to permit him a thorough housecleaning of his cabinet.

Others speculated that the ailing leader would designate Deputy Premier Sisowath Sirk Matak as his successor, or that the way had been opened for challenges from Son Ngec Than, former leader of the anti-Sihanouk Free Khmer movement, or National Assembly President in Tam.

Lon Nol's younger brother, Lt. Col. Lon Non, predicted that the premier would be back in office shortly with a new cabinet.

"Illness is not the real reason behind his resignation," Lon Non told the newsmen. "The real reason is that when he came back from Hawaii, it was necessary to put together a new government."

Poor health was the reason Lon Nol gave in his letter of resignation to Chief of State Cheng Heng. The 57-year-old premier was felled by a stroke Feb. 8 that paralyzed his left side. He returned last Monday after treatment by the U. S. Army in Honolulu but walked with difficulty and was assisted by male nurses.

The announcement that he and his Cabinet were resigning came as a surprise since he said before leaving Hawaii that he planned to resume direction of the government and would govern with "help from friends."

One U. S. official in Washington commented "There doesn't seem to be any great change in the situation since Lon Nol has not been actively directing the Cambodian government for several

Little Contact With Enemy

Allies Move Into A Shau

SAIGON (AP) — U. S. and South Vietnamese infantry battalions have finally moved into the A Shau valley but no significant contact with the enemy was reported today.

Associated Press Correspondent J. T. Wolkstorfer reported from Lavang, the forward command post for the operation, that at least one battalion of about 400 troops from the U. S. 101st Airborne Division and sizable South Vietnamese units had been committed to the A Shau operation.

To Hold Hearing
On Mobile Homes

CORNING — "A full agenda" led by a rezoning request is set for the Corning planning commission at 7:30 tonight.

According to City Clerk Mrs. Lillian Hagen, the board will be asked to create a new zone from an area presently zoned residential.

She said Bill Widrig, Hwy. 99 West, asked to have a Taft Street block zoned to allow a mixture of mobile homes and permanent houses. The block is bounded by Houghton and Thomas Avenues, according to Mrs. Hagen.

The public hearing will be held in the council room in the city hall.

Emblem Ritual Team To Compete For State Honors

Red Bluff Emblem Club's Ritual Team will compete for state honors this week-end when they leave for the Convention of the California State Association of Emblem Clubs and Nevada-Hawaii Clubs to be held at the Biltmore Hotel in Los Angeles, April 21-24.

The local ritual team won the state and national contest last year and will be competing at this time with twelve California teams. The following members compose the ritual team: President Viola Gilbert; First-vice-president, Libby Micke; Jr. past president, Ione Owen; marshals, Liz Brunk, Ozie Ragan and Marie Goodwin; chairman of trustees, Claris Ramsey; chaplain, Hazel Skeels; guard Alice Thayer; and the organist, Mary Ellen Wells. Traveling with the group will be their coach Helen Busta.

Approximately 1,500 delegates, alternates and members will represent a membership of more than 14,000 from the 98 clubs in the association headed by Mrs. Ole Glidewell, Past President of the Ridgecrest Emblem Club.

The Emblem Club is a charitable organization dedicated to serving the community. Its membership is composed of wives, sisters, mothers, daughters and widows of the Order of Elks.

At the convention, reports will be given on projects supported by the clubs. The main project of the State Association is the awarding of scholarships to qualified teachers for the training of the deaf and hard-of-hearing children. This past year over $13,500 has been given in scholarships.

The California Elks' Cerebral Palsy Fund of over $100,000 is supported by the Emblem Clubs through-out the States of California, Nevada and Hawaii.

Also the Emblem Clubs assist in the equipping of hospital rooms, free dental clinics, glasses for the needy, audio-visual equipment, and hospital and mentally retarded training programs. They make up Thanksgiving and Christmas baskets, and send gift packages to the servicemen in Viet Nam.

Mainly About People

By ELLA HENDRICKS — 527-5562

Mrs. Dan Hall is now convalescing at her home in Red Bluff following surgery last week in St. Elizabeth Hospital. It is reported that she is doing well and is able to receive visitors.

Mr. and Mrs. John Moore have returned to their home in the Dairyville area after spending two weeks in Los Altos, where he underwent major surgery. He is recuperating favorably.

Fred Tower of San Diego is visiting at the home of his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Lehman. Tower flew to Sacramento where he was met by the Lehmans.

One of the "old-timers," in point of service, at the annual Round-Up is Tom Spaulding of Napa, son of Mrs. Enville Spaulding of Red Bluff. Tom was on hand, as usual, this year at his post as a chutes attendant. This time he had his son, Tom Jr. with him. The Spaulding family spent the weekend at the mother's home and the junior Mrs. Spaulding visited her mother at Redding. Tom, an official of the telephone company in the Napa area, attended a company event at Redding Saturday night.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. Don Phillips during the rodeo weekend were their grandsons, David and Danny Holmer of Sacramento. The lads had also spent Easter week vacation here with the grandparents.

Mrs. Reva Wilcox returned Friday from Los Angeles where she had spent the past two weeks visiting her sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. David Snyder.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald McKeen and children, Patrick and Kevin, of Auburn visited during the weekend at the home of his mother, Mrs. Clara Parker, and attended the rodeo on Saturday.

Mrs. Catherine Dana of Sacramento, formerly of Red Bluff, spent the weekend at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Owens.

Hospital Notes

Newly admitted patients in Corning Memorial Hospital are Lloyd Carlson of Corning; Betty Lucas of Proberta; Yvonne Gustin of Los Molinos; Ann Gorman, Edna White and Mildred Colbert of Gerber.

Helen Robson of Los Molinos and Gary M. Grimm of Red Bluff are surgical patients in St. Elizabeth Hospital.

Births

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Anthony LeDonne of Red Bluff, a daughter, Lara Suzanne, weighing six pounds, eight ounces, born April 18, 1971, in Corning Memorial Hospital.

Fashion Show Held By Corning High Girls' Athletic Association

CORNING — Happiness Is Styles To Smile By was the theme of the Girls' Athletic Association 1971 fashion show, viewed by some 350 persons, at Corning Union High School. The GAA earned $211, of which $100 will be donated to a scholarship awarded annually to a graduating senior who is planning to become a physical education teacher.

The welcome was given by Paula Winter, GAA president, who expressed the girls' appreciation to Mrs. Charlotte Wolf, to whom the fashion show was dedicated.

Children's clothing, sportswear, school wear, pantsuits, coats, Western attire, casual, dressy and formal wear were modeled by the following:

Nanette Arbogast, Meralea Arbogast, Donetta Barnes, Louise Beaty, Chris Bang, Robin Burroughs, Vicki Canty, Jesse Crisosto, Debbie Cox, Pauletta Eller, Linda Ellis, Karen Flippo, Lana Flournoy, Pamela Flournoy, Pat Frizsell.

Karen Gonsalves, Marie Grandeen, Teri Hardy, Rachelle Houghton, Linda Hust, Teri Jacklin, Dixie Kern, Darla Kellison, Mary Lee Larsen, Kris Meeder, Shirley Messmer, Becky Mesker, Dorey Meents, Darla Meents, Debbie McGee.

Denise Ulving, Kathy Vanella, Janet Vanella, Susie Torvinen, Cheryl White, Jaylin Wilfong, Nola Wilson and Arlene Zimmerman.

Commentators were Kathy Enerson, Linda Johnston, Pam Vculek, Sherree Sutfin, Rachelle Houghton, Kim Torvinen and Paula Winter, seniors.

A vocal number was sung by Colleen Hedley and Pam Vculek, accompanied by Carleen Darrow, and three additional songs were sung by Colleen Hedley, accompanied by Suzanne Martine, Susan Tomlinson and Susan Hultgren.

A Charlie Brown skit was given by Deanna Pettus and Melame Russ.

Presentations to Mrs. Wolf included roses from the seniors; a Snoopy stuffed animal, juniors, a trophy inscribed "World's Best Friend," sophomores, and a pantsuit from the GAA officers. Miss Lynn Gould was presented a gift for assisting with trampoline after school.

Teen-age Mail

By DOROTHY RICKER

Dear Mrs. Ricker:

I am 17 years old and have been dating a girl I'll call Carol pretty regularly. We both have had only a few dates with others since school started last fall. Mother is very fond of Carol and that is the cause of my problem.

Recently, at a party, I met another girl who really knocked me for a loop; I want to date her but Mother is raising so much cain about it things are really rough. She thinks I'm a heel to want to date anyone but Carol and says she loves her like a daughter. But gosh! I hadn't planned to marry Carol, she is just a nice girl I like and respect. Mother has cried and carried on until I hate to come into the house.

I'm not interested in marrying any girl right now or even getting too serious. I've got to finish high school this year, have four years of college ahead of me plus some time in the service. Do you think I should stick to Carol the rest of my life just because my mother likes her? I would really like to know this other girl better. What is your opinion of this situation?

JACK

Dear Jack:

I can imagine just how uncomfortable this situation has become for you. Your mother's attitude is wrong, of course, she should not expect you to settle down with Carol just because she is fond of her. She should also realize that you may be "knocked for a loop" by several girls before you decide to marry.

Why not ask your Dad to help you with this problem? Usually men can look at a situation like this more objectively than women and perhaps he can set Mom straight.

As for Carol, if you do not have a "going steady" agreement with her, she should not be too surprised if you date this other girl.

My advice is to date her if you want to, providing she is a nice girl. Mom will just have to realize she has no right to expect you to disregard your own choice of girls.

I believe it is important for teen-agers to have varied experience in dating. Then, when they do marry, they should be reasonably sure they will be satisfied with their choice of a life-time partner.

Dear Mrs. Ricker:

My boy friend is real cute, the only trouble is he knows it. Sometimes he leaves me alone for a long time at a dance while he goes around talking to other people (mostly girls). My girl friends say I am lucky because he likes me, but I'm sick and tired of the way he acts. Don't you think he should pay more attention to me when we're on a date?

J.F.

Dear J.F.:

The next time your boy friend leaves you alone at a dance, do a little wandering around yourself and talk to other people. Perhaps if he has to hunt for you, he won't be so careless about leaving you alone.

A boy should not leave his date alone unless it is unavoidable. So, if this boy continues his indifferent behavior, my advice is to date other boys.

HOW DO YOU RATE

ASA DATE?

Do your dates like you and want to date you again? Dorothy Ricker's self-quiz, "How Do You Rate as a Date," will help you become a keener date. The quiz is free, but please enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request. Mail to Dorothy Ricker in care of this newspaper.

On January 1, 1971 Medicare again raised the deductibles and other amounts that you must pay for medical care. But Blue Cross/65 has again expanded benefits to cover these cost increases—at no increase in cost to you. Blue Cross/65 remains just $4 a month, payable quarterly.

For new members who apply before their 65th birthday or within 90 days after, Blue Cross/65 is available the year around.

But, for those who are more than 90 days past 65, the Plan will be open for a limited time only—from now through June 1. Don't miss out.

Remember, for only

$4 a month Blue Cross/65 not only fills gaps in the Medicare program when hospitalized, but also provides benefits not covered by Medicare, including hospital and surgical care outside the United States.

ANN LANDERS

Answers Your Problems

Dear Readers: If you are looking for a laugh today, you'd better skip Ann Landers. If you want to be part of an effort that might save millions of lives — maybe your own — please stay with me.

Who among us has not lost a loved one to cancer? Is there a single person in my reading audience so incredibly lucky that his life has not been changed in some way by this dread disease? More Americans died of cancer in 1969 than were killed in the four years of World War II. On the 200 million Americans alive today, 50 million will develop cancer. Approximately 34 million will die of it. Cancer claims the lives of more children under 15 years of age than any other illness.

How many of us have asked the question, "If this great country of ours can put a man on the moon why can't we find a cure for cancer?" One reason is that we have never launched a national campaign, a united effort, against this killer disease. Another reason is money. The funds designated for medical research in America is grossly inadequate. Government grants for medical research have virtually dried up. The lion's share of the tax dollar is going to defense.

The following statistics shook me. They tell an interesting (and shameful) story about the priorities in this country. In 1969, for every man, woman and child in the United States our government spent:

$125 on the war in Vietnam

$19 on the space program

$19 on foreign aid

89 cents on cancer research

Soon a bill will come before the United States Senate which calls for the establishment of a National Cancer Authority. This bill, S-34 will be sponsored by Senators Edward Kennedy and Jacob Javits. The proposed National Cancer Authority would be an agency similar to the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) which put men on the moon. This Conquest of Cancer bill demands that the highest priority be given to devise better methods of prevention, diagnosis and cure of cancer at the earliest possible date.

Today you have the opportunity to be a part of the mightiest offensive against a single disease in the history of our country. If enough citizens let their senators know they want Bill S-34 passed, it will pass.

I urge each and every person who reads this column to write to his two senators at once — or better yet, send telegrams. If you don't know the names of your two senators, call your newspaper and ask the switchboard operator. Address your letter or telegram to: Senator — Senate Office Building, Washington, D.C., 20510.

Your message need consist of only three words "Vote for S-34." And sign your name, please.

No one can do everything, but each of us can do something. It is entirely possible that this one small act could reshape the lives of millions. Get moving. My telegrams to Senators Charles Percy and Adlai Stevenson went out last night.

Thanks — and God Bless

Summary Of Major State Legislation

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS MONDAY

THE ASSEMBLY

Bills Passed:

Hunting — Would outlaw hunting from aircraft; AB 458, Chappie, R-Cool.

Youth — Would lower maximum age for juvenile court supervision of minor from 21 to 18; AB 412, Murphy, R-Santa Cruz. Would give arrested youths same rights as adults to telephone attorney, next of kin; AB 723, Sieroty, D-Beverly Hills.

Earthquake — Would provide $1 million to cover earthquake losses of veterans with Cal-Vet loans; AB 579, Cline, R-Canoga Park.

Adoptions — Would bring out-of-state adoptions of California babies under same law against payment for child that applies to adoptions by families within state; AB 564, Warren, D-Los Angeles.

Cigarettes — Would tax cigarettes given away as free samples at same rate as those sold; AB 369, Gonsalves, D-La Mirada. Would prohibit mailing unsolicited free cigarette samples; AB 372, McAlister, D-San Jose.

THE SENATE

Resolution Adopted:

Voting — Ratifies an amendment to the U. S. Constitution to lower the voting age in state and local elections to age 18. Requires ratification by 18 more states, 38, in all, to take effect; SJR 22, Dymally, D-Los Angeles.

Rock Opera To Be Presented Tonight At Mercy High

A totally new approach to the Easter story is "Jesus Christ Superstar," which will be presented at Mercy High School tonight at 7:30 p.m.

The presentation, which is in the form of a recorded opera, uses a Moog synthesizer, and has been called controversial. The rock music and dialog in modern vernacular fascinate both young and old, according to local people who saw the opera at its first presentation in Red Bluff.

A selection of colored slides, ranging from Old Masters to modern art, and including news photos and original drawings by Robert Ellis of the Red Bluff High School faculty provide a focus for the eye. Mrs. Michael Jackson prepared a script which has been mimeographed so that the audience can follow the libretto.

Father Michael Jackson of St. Peter's Episcopal Church collaborated with Father James McDonald of Anderson, and Ellis to prepare this multimedia show.

The show was given three times during Holy Week in Shasta County and will have a final performance at Grace Cathedral in San Francisco on April 28.

While no admission is being charged, there will be an opportunity to make a voluntary contribution at the showing to help defray expenses.

Foreign Correspondents Dispel False Images In America

EDITOR'S NOTE — America often is flashed to foreigners in exaggerated images: cities ablaze with revolution or streets paved with gold. AP correspondent Peter Arnett and photographer Horst Gaas, neither of them Americans, began a three-month tour of this country with their own preconceptions. In this dispatch, one of a series, they discuss how their images buckled or held fast.

By PETER ARNETT With HORST HAAS

Associated Press Writers

Visitors to America tend to look over their shoulders for race war, police violence and revolution. That has been the stuff of the recent American image overseas. What we found was not what we expected.

Two foreigners touring America for the first time, we walked through ghettos, rode with police patrols in the crowded cities, and visited militant campuses.

We saw where violence had passed by: the fire-blackened streets, the empty lots where stores once stood, the "riot renaissance" architecture that grafted windowless solid brick walls on banks and supermarkets to protect them against flying stones.

But in three months of walking and riding through America we witnessed not a single act of violence, although we sensed that the potential was often there.

As part of our visit, we looked for signs of America's problems. We had difficulty coming to grips with them for we have seen far worse elsewhere in the world.

We had watched people starving to death in East Pakistan, gasped through Tokyo smog far worse than anything ever seen over Los Angeles. I twice barely evaded muggings in Bangkok. I've been trapped for hours in a Rome traffic snarl.

So we brought an international perspective to the problems we expected to find.

From that perspective, then, the police of Chicago appeared efficient and obliging, more like the bobbies of London than the embattled lawmen we expected to find in a once gangster-infested city more recently notorious for the street battles during the 1968 Democratic National Convention.

Detective John Parilli and other officers we met showed a remarkable knowledge.

They pointed out addicts, gamblers and other criminals as we rode, sketching in backgrounds of major and minor crime.

They like their work and often recalled the street fights with demonstrators during the 1968 convention.

"Just a dozen of us took 200 of them apart of Lake Shore Drive," one detective recalled. We began to sense how bitter the fight had been.

And they all praised Mayor Richard J. Daley.

We eventually got the feeling in Chicago that while the city was not the police state we sort of expected to find, and that while the police patrols were discreet and not pervasive, the arm of the law was strong and powerful and could be mobilized instantly. We had no doubts that the police could be very tough indeed, on demonstrators or anybody else.

The ghettos were a surprise. At first glance West Oakland and Watts in California might have passed as better grade residential suburbs in many foreign cities. Where were those crushing mobs of people and filth-laden alleys that our minds had always associated with ghetto living?

But as we stepped across the prostrate form of a drunk on the sidewalk and entered a black job bureau, we sensed what the American ghetto really means: despair. The black people inside regarded us with what seemed like cool hatred. They were anxious to send us on our way.

The hippies, too, did not fit the preconceptions we had brought with us. They were difficult to find, and when we did discover them on the lonely West Coast beaches they were remote and careworn, hardly the free spirits of the Age of Aquarius.

But while we saw fewer hippies in the cities than we expected, other dropouts abounded. There were the skid rows, uniquely American institutions that you won't find in Europe or Asia.

And we found the religious dropouts, like the Amish and the Hutterites, who have almost totally withdrawn from society, secluded on their farms from radio and television, certain that the Bible is a super instrument for self-improvement than the voting machine.

Horst and I talked about the dropout phenomenon as we drove through Montana. "Only America is big enough to accommodate people who so obviously reject its disciplines," he said.

I said that only America can afford them, such as the skid row bum in Los Angeles who has his monthly welfare check sent to his favorite bar to pay his bill. Or the Street People who have mastered the art of collecting food stamps to say fed.

We have brought with us mental pictures of the famous American cities. Generally, we found these expectations off base.

Los Angeles was the throbbing, immediate metropolis we imagined it to be, not so much a city as a state of mind. "I haven't been to the center of town in three years," a movie producer told us when we visited 20th-Century Fox in Hollywood. How could a Chicagoan not visit the Loop, or a New Yorker ignore midtown Manhattan?

Las Vegas was our biggest surprise. It was not the heartless pushy neon hell we had envisaged. "We want people to like us, to come back to us; we are running a clean city," a public relations man for the Sands Hotel told us.

He wasn't referring to the streets, but they were the cleanest we had seen in America. So was the air.

San Francisco's skyline was as gorgeous as we expected, but that city is better known abroad for its bawdiness. When night descended we gravitated.

Our preconceptions didn't fare very well.

BUICK BARGAIN DAYS ARE HERE

Buick Bargain Days are saving days.

A bargain price on a stripped down car is no bargain. But a Buick or Opel at a bargain is something else again. Because we're not selling some special stripped down model. We're selling Buicks and Opels — the same great cars we've sold all year.

With one difference. The deals have never been better. Which means that you can move out in a new Buick or Opel at a price that's hard to believe. When Buick talks about a bargain, we give you something to believe in.

Opel 1900 Sport Coupe. With 119 liter engine that operates efficiently on low lead or no lead gasoline, hydraulic valve lifters for quiet engine operation, power front disc brakes, and more.

Skylark Custom. With Buick exclusive nickel plated engine exhaust valves for smoother operation on lead and unleaded fuels. Comfort II ventilation system, and more.

Your Buick-Opel dealer will give you better reasons to buy a new car now than anybody else.

The business of auto safety.

Auto safety is everyone's concern. But it's our business. And we think the attention that's being paid to auto safety now is a good thing. Because it will result in better driving for everyone. And, frankly, better driving for everyone means better business for us. We say Buick is something to believe in. That's why, we're trying to make it easy to be safe by putting in safety features that work by themselves. You don't have to do anything to make them work. Like side guard beams. And the energy absorbing steering column. And the cargo guard between the trunk and back seat. They start "working" even before you get in the car. But two safety features — two of the most vital, are worthless unless you do something first. Seat and shoulder belts. Unfastened they do nothing. And you've seen enough statistics to know what a difference they can make. So use them. But that's not all you can do. Because the most effective safety feature of all can't be added to our cars or anybody else's. That feature is you. And the way you drive. Which should be defensively. And rested. And sober. We're all in this together. And together we can solve the auto safety problem once and for all. And the time is now.

Tehama County 4-H and FFA placed well in the livestock judging contest with the Red Bluff High School Future Farmers fifth in the FFA division and Tehama County 4-H 12th in the its division. Dan Brown of Tehama County won high individual honors in the Future Farmers Judging Contest.

Livestock representing Tehama County fared quite well under stiff judging and competition from all over the state. The Red Bluff FFA had ten 1-A hogs placing second for a chapter group. All lambs except one brought to the Cow Palace from Tehama County graded 2-A or better and were eligible to sell at the Junior Grand National Sale.

Whaling Industry Gets What Appears Its Final License

WASHINGTON (AP) — The American whaling industry received what appears to be its final license Monday.

The Department of Commerce authorized the Del Monte Fishing Co. of Richmond, Calif. — the last whaling firm in the nation — to take 166 whales under a quota set by the International Whaling Commission. The license expires Nov. 1.

At the same time the Commerce Department also announced it was banning commercial catching of the last three species of whales which can be legally taken — the finback, sei and sperm — after Dec. 31. The announcement was a formality confirming an earlier statement by Secretary of Commerce Maurice Stans.

ANN LANDERS

Answers Your Problems

Dear Readers: If you are looking for a laugh today, you'd better skip Ann Landers. If you want to be part of an effort that might save millions of lives — maybe your own — please stay with me.

Who among us has not lost a loved one to cancer? Is there a single person in my reading audience so incredibly lucky that his life has not been changed in some way by this dread disease? More Americans died of cancer in 1969 than were killed in the four years of World War II. On the 200 million Americans alive today, 50 million will develop cancer. Approximately 34 million will die of it. Cancer claims the lives of more children under 15 years of age than any other illness.

How many of us have asked the question, "If this great country of ours can put a man on the moon why can't we find a cure for cancer?" One reason is that we have never launched a national campaign, a united effort, against this killer disease. The funds designated for medical research in America is grossly inadequate. Government grants for medical research have virtually dried up. The lion's share of the tax dollar is going to defense.

The following statistics shook me. They tell an interesting (and shameful) story about the priorities in this country. In 1969, for every man, woman and child in the United States our government spent:

$125 on the war in Vietnam

$19 on the space program

$19 on foreign aid

89 cents on cancer research

Soon a bill will come before the United States Senate which calls for the establishment of a National Cancer Authority. This bill, S-34 will be sponsored by Senators Edward Kennedy and Jacob Javits. The proposed National Cancer Authority would be an agency similar to the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) which put men on the moon. This Conquest of Cancer bill demands that the highest priority be given to devise better methods of prevention, diagnosis and cure of cancer at the earliest possible date.

Today you have the opportunity to be a part of the mightiest offensive against a single disease in the history of our country. If enough citizens let their senators know they want Bill S-34 passed, it will pass.

I urge each and every person who reads this column to write to his two senators at once — or better yet, send telegrams. If you don't know the names of your two senators, call your newspaper and ask the switchboard operator. Address your letter or telegram to: Senator — Senate Office Building, Washington, D.C., 20510.

Your message need consist of only three words. "Vote for S-34." And sign your name, please.

No one can do everything, but each of us can do something. It is entirely possible that this one small act could reshape the lives of millions. Get moving. My telegrams to Senators Charles Percy and Adlai Stevenson went out last night.

Thanks — and God Bless.

Buick Bargain Days are saving days.

A bargain price on a stripped-down car is no bargain. But a Buick or Opel at a bargain is something else again. Because we're not selling some special stripped-down model. We're selling Buick and Opels, the same great cars we've sold all year.

Opel 1900 Sport Coupe. With a 1.9 liter engine that operates efficiently on low-lead or no-lead gasolines. Hydraulic valve lifters for quiet engine operation. Power front disc brakes and more.

Skylark Custom. With Buick's exclusive nickel-plated engine exhaust valves for smoother operation on today's cleaner fuels. Comfort-Flo ventilation system and more.

With one difference. The deals have never been better. Which means that you can move out in a new Buick or Opel at a price that's hard to believe. When Buick talks about a bargain, we give you something to believe in.

Your Buick-Opel dealer will give you better reasons to buy a new car now than anybody else.

The business of auto safety.

Auto safety is everyone's concern. But it's our business. And we think the attention that's being paid to auto safety now is a good thing. Because it will result in better driving for everyone. And, frankly, better driving for everyone means better business for us.

We say Buick is something to believe in. That's why we're trying to make it easy to be safe by putting in safety features that work by themselves. You don't have to do anything to make them work.

Like side guard beams. And the energy absorbing steering column. And the cargo guard between the trunk and back seat. They start "working" even before you get in the car.

But two safety features, two of the most vital, are worthless unless you do something first. Seat and shoulder belts. Unfastened they do nothing. And you've seen enough statistics to know what a difference they can make. So use them.

But that's not all you can do. Because the most effective safety feature of all can't be added to our cars or anybody else's.

That feature is you. And the way you drive. Which should be defensively. And rested. And sober. We're all in this together. And together we can solve the auto safety problem once and for all. And the time is now.

A Needed Improvement

The just-completed and well-attended 49th Red Bluff Round-Up brings to attention a feature of our public facilities that calls for improvement. That is the grandstand at the arena. It could be made much more comfortable if the wind could be prevented from blowing up from below and sweeping in from the north.

That is particularly so for the Round-Up most years because of its early date. Many more times than not, even when the weather is comparatively mild and spring-like, a chilling breeze will spring up before the show is over, and spectators start leaving while several events are yet to be run. Some of them will dress warmer next year, but some won't be back.

Even for summer events, such as the Tehama Totem Fair, the evenings can be chilly sometimes, and if a breeze does spring up, the grandstand can be downright uncomfortable.

Of course, the open bleachers on both sides of the arena would still be unprotected even if the grandstand were enclosed more, but people who plan to sit in the more exposed places are more likely to prepare for it. People — particularly those from a distance — who buy grandstand seats are the ones most likely to be soured by trying to shiver through a long performance.

Some additional sanitary facilities, too, would add to spectator acceptance of the Totem Fair grounds as a place to take family and guests with assurance.

It's a good fairgrounds, one we can take a lot of pride in. But as the events there grow, the facilities must keep pace if our pride is to be justified in the future.

Businessmen Like Plowback Bill

Erosion of the working capital of small businesses could be ended by a "plowback" tax measure which could bring a harvest of small-business growth — and jobs — in the United States. Congressman Charles E. Chamberlain of Michigan and a lot of businessmen are convinced. A big majority of the independent businessmen responding to a nationwide poll that the "Plowback Allowance" bill by Congressman Chamberlain should be enacted by Congress. The bill would permit a federal income tax deduction of 20 per cent of profits which are reinvested into the business, with the deduction limited to $40,000.

The National Federation of Independent Business poll finds a 3-1 margin in favor of the legislation, with 72 per cent endorsing it, 24 per cent opposed and 4 per cent undecided.

Since capital for expansion must generally come from after-tax earnings or borrowing, economic conditions of recent years — low profits, high taxes, high interest charges — have made it difficult for the average privately-owned business to undertake any form of expansion. The Plowback Allowance, it is argued, would stimulate expansion of many of the nation's five-million-plus independently-owned businesses which have no access to bond markets or other corporate financing. And expansion would mean creation of jobs in this segment of the economy, which provides employment for more than half of the nation's privately employed. In this way, the Plowback Allowance might be a strong factor in reducing the jobless rolls and welfare costs.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Hidden Auto Faults Costly

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — Americans pay $7 million a year in excess gas, oil and tires because their cars have hidden faults that a simple diagnostic test would turn up.

This is the astonishing finding of Sen. Phil Hart's Anti-Trust Subcommittee, based on studies of car inspection and repair figures.

Even the new car buyer, Hart found, can't be sure he won't wind up with a wobbly wheeled, gas gulping, oil burning, chrome-plated lemon.

Hart's statisticians found that bad wheel alignment, dirty plugs, bum carburetor adjustment and the like cost drivers seven-tenths of a cent per mile. Applying this to the trillion miles a year driven by Americans, Hart reached his $7 billion figure.

The Michigan Senator's staff also has discovered that 50 per cent of all new cars and 90 per cent of five-year-and-older cars have safety defects.

To stem the costs and the fatalities, Hart wants to set up nationwide self-supporting diagnostic centers to inspect all newly-bought cars — old and new models alike — and to check repairs made on cars in crashes. His dramatic statistics have been prepared for release to a meeting later this week of car makers, repairers, consumer men, auto diagnosticians and legislators.

Hart also plans to cite the shameful $8 billion to $10 billion, by his estimate, that Americans spend on shoddy, unneeded and undone car repairs.

PRESIDENT'S NEWS

We recently concluded from studying two of President Nixon's private news summaries that he gets a highly condensed view of the news. This has brought a response from White House aide Pat Buchanan, who prepares the President's news digests.

"Serious consideration has been given," wrote Buchanan, "to putting you on the list for the President's Daily News Summary — both in your interest and ours. Seriously, while the quotes taken from the news summary to date have been accurate, they have not been placed in their proper context, in our view."

(You) noted that the most complex stories had been reduced to single paragraphs, and then went on to quote several. The quotes were accurate. What was in error was that this was not a 'typical news summary.'"

"The same day," the President also received his weekly magazine report running 27 pages double-space, his daily television report running 13 pages double-space, and his news 'top' which I draft at around seven in the morning, covering the major items in the Eastern press that morning and the Chicago Tribune.

"Finally, this is not an effort to engage in a quarrel, or do a little nitpicking or cavil on the ninth part of a hair. We think that seen in its entirety the President's Daily News Summary — a four-or-five-part daily briefing running up to fifty pages — can stand the scrutiny of the most objective reporters."

WASHINGTON WHIRL

Julie's Junkie — One advantage of being Julie Nixon Eisenhower is that she can live with her Navy husband, David, at Virginia Beach and keep up her studies in Washington 150 miles away. Julie flies to Catholic University once a week in an Air Force plane to do graduate work in education. Then she zips back a day or two later to be housewife for David, who is attending a Navy navigation school at Dam Neck, Va. A White House spokesman explained that President Nixon, as the urging of the Secret Service and former President Johnson, tries to use Air Force transportation for his family rather than take security risks with ground transportation.

Missing Marker — J. Edgar Hoover, already furious over the burglarizing of an FBI field office, has hushed up another humiliating theft. His birth plaque is missing from its place of honor in Washington's Capitol Hill Methodist Church. The bronze marker, commemorating the birthplace of the revered FBI chief, disappeared several weeks ago from beneath the John Edgar Hoover Memorial Window. The Rev. James P. Archibald, the pastor, reported the theft to the Washington police, not the FBI.

Alcoholics Insolvent — The White House, which has done a lot of preaching against alcoholism, has failed to request a penny to prevent alcoholism and to rehabilitate alcoholics.

Radical School Reformer

By LYNN SHERR
Associated Press Writer

The only thing wrong with the nation's public schools is that nobody learns anything there, says James Herndon, 44, a rangy school teacher and author whose recent criticisms of U.S. education have won him a niche in the pantheon of radical school reformers.

"America's schools were invented as a place for people to learn certain things related to work — like getting to work on time," he said in a recent interview. "A big thing in school is not being tardy to class. But it really doesn't matter because there ain't nothin' goin' on in class."

"And there's no use training kids for work now, 'cause there ain't no jobs," he said.

A 13-year veteran of the California school system, where, he said, he found more concern with triplicate absence forms than with kids' minds, Herndon blamed restrictive official lesson plans for much of the lack of learning.

"There are no kids who can't read, like there are no kids who can't add," he said. "But with all the procedures and tests and scoring sheets, the kid says learning to read must be hard. So in school, he can't read."

Once, Herndon taught his eighth-graders how to read by ignoring the standard textbook methods and simply providing good books. But, he complained, his "innovative" classroom wound up "as a safety valve" for the rest of the school, rather than as a catalyst for change.

"They began to farm kids out to us — everyone who couldn't make it," he recalled. "What they were saying was, 'Good, now we don't have to change.'"

As a result, Herndon decided that everyone should quit worrying about short-run reforms such as smaller classes.

"We should get rid of compulsory education laws," he said. "That will change things!"

"If a kid who's just been chewed out can just get up in the middle of class and leave, then schools, will have to get better. They'll have to offer some way to make the kids stay if they want their federal money," he explained.

Indians Ask Moratorium

A coalition of environmental organizations and American Indians have asked for a moratorium on all Federal action related to electric power developments they fear will devastate the heart of the scenic southwestern United States.

The Native American Rights Fund, Environmental Defense Fund and National Wildlife Federation told Interior Secretary Rogers Morton a mammoth system of coal-fired power plants, strip mines, high voltage transmission lines and related developments seriously threaten the fabled Four Corners area of Colorado, Utah, New Mexico and Arizona.

By 1985, an association of about 20 southwestern utilities plans to generate more than 36 million kilowatts of electricity in the Four Corners area to serve Phoenix, Tucson, Las Vegas, San Diego and Los Angeles.

On The Right

Nixon Headed For Period Of Rough Times

By WILLIAM F. BUCKLEY JR.

Richard Nixon is in for a very rough time during the next period. He does things to people, causing even very decent folk to behave quite incomprehensibly. Joe McCarthy had the same knack. I used to point out that I never knew anything McCarthy had said that could equal in villainess some of the things that were said about him.

Take, for instance, Mr. Allard Lowenstein. He is a civilized man, of incontinent idealism, who will be remembered as the person who launched the program to retire Lyndon Johnson in 1968 by fielding an opponent in the Democratic Primary in New Hampshire. Subsequently, he served a term in the House of Representatives, and now he is back on the road, organizing to beat Mr. Nixon in 1972. He stopped by recently at the John F. Kennedy Center at Harvard, where he delivered a paean on the memory of Robert F. Kennedy. Then he announced his plans, making the remark that "Nixon is making Johnson look retroactively very credible, which is an extraordinary achievement when you think about it."

Now we are all used to the hurly-burly of polemics, but when you stop to think of it, in what significant way has Nixon let the liberals down? Or, more exactly stated, in what significant way has he deceived them? He never said that he would have American troops out of Vietnam within six months or 16 months of taking office. He said he would wind down the war, and he has done so. He said he would pull out of Cambodia by the end of June, and did; said that American foot soldiers would not fight in Laos, and they haven't. What is Lowenstein so excited about? It is mysterious. It is partly what Nixon does to Lowenstein, and partly what Lowenstein does to Lowenstein, because Al Baby is going to be looking pensive and sad about the state of the world before the New Hampshire primary of 1996, when he will announce that the world cannot survive a second term by John-John.

Then there is the columnist and author Garry Wills who, did one not know that he is capable of making distinctions only Bertrand Russell and Alfred North Whitehead could follow, is beginning to sound like a slogan-writer for the John Birch Society.

For instance, there were those (myself included) who commented that Mr. Nixon's recent refusal to give a date when all American troops would be out of Vietnam was a sign of courage, given the clear indication, that the overwhelming majority of the American people desire to be given such a date. Wills' comment? "I prefer heroes who are not 'brave' with other men's lives." At an intellectual level, that comment is the equal of "If you don't like our foreign policy, why don't you go live in Russia."

Mr. Wills, if he would permit himself to reflect on the matter, would recognize that we are called upon, in our lifetime, to be courageous in different ways. As soldiers, we are asked to show courage on the firing line, and it is reported that, when Mr. Nixon was a soldier, he did so. Later in life, courage is needed in many different situations, in facing personal, and public crises. Is Mr. Wills saying that it is improper to consider the courage of Julius Caesar, or Alexander the Great, or Napoleon Bonaparte, or Winston Churchill, because more often than not they were engaged not in exposing their own lives to the enemies' weapons, but the lives of the soldiers whom destiny put them in command of?

Wills then takes offense at Billy Graham who, commenting on the fate of Lt. Calley, said "Perhaps it is a good time for each of us to re-evaluate our life. We have all had our My Lais in one way or another, perhaps not with guns, but we have hurt others with a thoughtless word, an arrogant act or a selfish deed." Observes Wills: "To equate My Lai . . . with a thoughtless word does not so much diminish My Lai's importance as destroy any claim Graham has to speak seriously about morality."

Really, it requires the Nixonization of the spleen, so to affect a critic's reasoning powers. Graham did not equate My Lai with "a thoughtless word," he observed merely that many men are tempted by special circumstances to quite hideous lengths. The objective harm done differs: perhaps it is the killing of helpless children, as at My Lai. Perhaps it is the psychological castration of the human being, as in Albee's Virginia Wolfe. Sadism, hysteria, and thoughtlessness, in different mixes, are generically responsible for My Lai, and for some of the criticisms made of public figures. Garry Wills has written imploring me please to learn to distinguish between Fathers Daniel and Philip Berrigan, and I am writing back today promising to make the effort, in return for which I ask that he learn to distinguish between Nixon and Satan.

'Too Little Analytical Intelligence'

By JOHN CUNIFF

AP Business Analyst

You hear the charge more frequently than ever when businessmen take time out for cocktails during panels, seminars, annual meetings and other affairs of their calling:

"We're attacking the job of peaceful progress as we attacked the war, with great hopes and emotions, too little analytical intelligence, and a disregard for the costs involved."

Noble, humanitarian ambitions, these critics say, are understandably an ingredient of great undertakings and may also be their sustaining energy. Individuals and groups which can't agree on small issues find it easy to unite behind great goals.

"Who is there that doesn't want to eliminate ignorance, poverty, crime, disease, hunger, foul air and polluted water?" asks Arjay Miller, former president of Ford Motor and now dean of the Stanford Graduate School of Business.

The answer, of course, is that nobody who believes in the dignity of the human being can very effectively argue against such goals. But, the businessmen ask, how do we approach the job and how do we pay for it?

"Whenever a businessman is faced with a difficult choice,"

Miller told an audience here, "the first thing he does is determine the facts. Before he approves a new product or program, he first determines how much it will cost."

Miller suggests that this isn't being done and that the legacy could be "discouragement, frustration, despair and anger." These might be recognized also as ingredients of urban and campus discord and riots.

More attention must be paid to the practical aspects of our ambitions, Miller argues, noting that the matter of costs seemingly was disregarded by Congress in passing the Clear

Air Act amendments of 1970.

"How much will it cost to meet these standards?" he asks. "$1 billion, $2 billion, $10 billion, $50 billion? No one seems to know."

Without knowledge of the costs involved, Miller argues, "Congress is now pushing ahead with further legislation to tighten environmental and safety standards."

He suggests that a National Goals Institute would enable "legislative bodies and sincere citizens in all walks of life to reach decisions based upon comprehensive and factual cost information."

Red Bluff Yesterdays

(From the files of the Daily News)

April 20, 1941

During the period Dec. 2 to April 4, approximately 10,000 lunches were served to children of Red Bluff Elementary school. Of this number approximately 4,000 free lunches were given. The average cost of a lunch was six or seven cents.

Teachers have noticed a decided improvement in children's work, health, weight and color during this time, which is attributed to the regular lunches during the winter months.

In spite of the rainy weather, the percentage of attendance showed a five per cent increase over the attendance during the same period last year.

April 20, 1871

Red Bluff chapter R.A.M., No. 40, having been duly chartered by the Grand Chapter on last Saturday evening, P.H.D. Joseph Isaac of Shasta, installed the following companions as officers of the same:

A. J. Loomis, H. P.; E. J. Lewis, K; Harry Collins, S; R. H. Blossom, P.S.; W. B. Parker, Col. H; J. W. Phillips, R.A.C.; George Chaplin, M 3rd; V.M.S. Wardworth, M 2nd; R. Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Tuesday, April 20, the 110th day of 1971. There are 255 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1775, the siege of Boston began in the American Revolution.

On this date:

In 1657, Jews in New Amsterdam were granted equal rights and privileges of citizens.

In 1662, Connecticut was granted a royal charter extending to the Pacific Ocean.

In 1836, the U.S. Congress established the territory of Wisconsin.

In 1861, Col. Robert E. Lee resigned his commission in the U.S. Army to join the Confederate cause in the Civil War.

In 1889, Adolf Hitler was born in Austria.

In 1945, in World War II, the U.S. 7th Army captured Nuremberg, Germany.

Ten years ago — It became clear that Cuban exiles had been defeated in the Bay of Pigs invasion and that the United States had been more closely involved than admitted at first.

Five years ago — U.S. planes were carrying out their closest attacks to the key port of Haiphong in North Vietnam.

One year ago — A Cuban exile group, Alpha 66, said it landed troops in Cuba to try to reach the mountains and begin a guerrilla war in the same area where Fidel Castro's revolution was born.

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...
By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

Do You Need a Psychiatrist?

DO ALL people with a neurotic problem need the help of a psychiatrist?

Mrs. N.J., Calif.
Dear Mrs. J.: That depends upon the severity of your problem. When a neurotic problem interferes with a woman's ability to be a competent mother, a good wife, and a contributing member of the community, specialized psychological help is necessary.

Like wise, when men fail as husbands, fathers, or in their jobs, the same help is needed.

In many instances, the general family physician is in a good position to help uncover the basic cause of mild neuroticism. This, of course, means that you must frankly and honestly talk about your problem.

It may be necessary to make a special appointment with your family physician when he is relatively free and can give you the time you will need.

Talking out your problem with a sensitive, well-trained listener can often pinpoint the difficulty, without the need for psychiatric help.

If the family doctor feels that the problem is too complex and needs the specialized help of a psychiatrist or psychologist, he will recommend one.

Can a plastic surgeon predict the exact shape of a nose after an operation?

We want to have it done for our daughter, but we wonder if she will be satisfied with the result.

Mr. & Mrs. S. T. N.J.

Dear Mr. and Mrs. T.: This is a most important question, and I hope I can help you to make your decision.

Far too often, patients about to undergo plastic surgery want an exact description of the post-operative appearance of the nose. In fact, many will specify their preferences.

I know of many instances where plastic surgeons were accused of promising a specific result when such promise or guarantee was never made. In their anxiety, patients frequently misinterpret, forget, or even distort the conversations with the plastic surgeon that took place before the operation.

The result is that many good operations bring disappointment rather than enchantment.

Plastic surgeons can, of course, perform the mechanical aspects of surgery. But predicting the post-operative shape of the nose is just not possible.

Some noses are remarkably simple to re-shape; others can be extremely difficult. Improvement almost always occurs, but even the most skillful surgeon cannot re-create the profile of an imagined movie star.

A Needed Improvement

The just-completed and well-attended 49th Red Bluff Round-Up brings to attention a feature of our public facilities that calls for improvement. That is the grandstand at the arena. It could be made much more comfortable if the wind could be prevented from blowing up from below and sweeping in from the north.

That is particularly so for the Round-Up most years because of its early date. Many more times than not, even when the weather is comparatively mild and spring-like, a chilling breeze will spring up before the show is over, and spectators start leaving while several events are yet to be run. Some of them will dress warmer next year, but some won't be back.

Even for summer events, such as the Tehama Totem Fair, the evenings can be chilly sometimes, and if a breeze does spring up, the grandstand can be downright uncomfortable.

Of course, the open bleachers on both sides of the arena would still be unprotected even if the grandstand were enclosed more, but people who plan to sit in the more exposed places are more likely to prepare for it. People — particularly those from a distance — who buy grandstand seats are the ones most likely to be soured by trying to shiver through a long performance.

Some additional sanitary facilities, too, would add to spectator acceptance of the Totem Fair grounds as a place to take family and guests with assurance.

It's a good fairgrounds, one we can take a lot of pride in. But as the events there grow, the facilities must keep pace if our pride is to be justified in the future.

Businessmen Like Plowback Bill

Erosion of the working capital of small businesses could be ended by a "plowback" tax measure which could bring a harvest of small-business growth — and jobs — in the United States, Congressman Charles E. Chamberlain of Michigan and a lot of businessmen are convinced. A big majority of the independent businessmen responding to a nationwide poll that the "Plowback Allowance" bill by Congressman Chamberlain should be enacted by Congress. The bill would permit a federal income tax deduction of 20 per cent of profits which are reinvested into the business, with the deduction limited to $40,000.

The National Federation of Independent Business poll finds a 3-1 margin in favor of the legislation, with 72 per cent endorsing it, 24 per cent opposed and 4 per cent undecided.

Since capital for expansion must generally come from after-tax earnings or borrowing, economic conditions of recent years — low profits, high taxes, high interest charges — have made it difficult for the average privately-owned business to undertake any form of expansion. The Plowback Allowance, it is argued, would stimulate expansion of many of the nation's five-million-plus independently-owned businesses which have no access to bond markets or other corporate financing. And expansion would mean creation of jobs in this segment of the economy, which provides employment for more than half of the nation's privately employed. In this way, the Plowback Allowance might be a strong factor in reducing the jobless rolls and welfare costs.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Hidden Auto Faults Costly

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — Americans pay $7 million a year in excess gas, oil and tires because their cars have hidden faults that a simple diagnostic test would turn up.

This is the astonishing finding of Sen. Phil Hart's Anti-Trust Subcommittee, based on studies of car inspection and repair figures.

Even the new car buyer, Hart found, can't be sure he won't wind up with a wobbly wheeled, gas gulping, oil burning, chrome-plated lemon.

Hart's statisticians found that bad wheel alignment, dirty plugs, bum carburetor adjustment and the like cost drivers seven-tenths of a cent per mile. Applying this to the trillion miles a year driven by Americans, Hart reached his $7 billion figure.

The Michigan Senator's staff also has discovered that 50 per cent of all new cars and 90 per cent of five-year-and-older cars have safety defects.

To stem the costs and the fatalities, Hart wants to set up nationwide self-supporting diagnostic centers to inspect all newly-bought cars—old and new models alike—and to check repairs made on cars in crashes. His dramatic statistics have been prepared for release to a meeting later this week of car makers, repairers, consumer men, auto diagnosticians and legislators.

Hart also plans to cite the shameful $8 billion to $10 billion, by his estimate, that Americans spend on shoddy, unneeded and undone car repairs.

PRESIDENT'S NEWS

We recently concluded from studying two of President Nixon's private news summaries that he gets a highly condensed view of the news. This has brought a response from White House aide Pat Buchanan, who prepares the President's news digests.

"Serious consideration has been given," wrote Buchanan, "to putting you on the list for the President's Daily News Summary — both in your interest and ours. Seriously, while the quotes taken from the news summary to date have been accurate, they have not been placed in their proper context, in our view."

"(You) noted that the most complex stories had been reduced to single paragraphs, and then went on to quote several. The quotes were accurate. What was in error was that this was not a 'typical news summary.'"

"The same day... the President also received his weekly magazine report running 27 pages double-space, his daily television report running 13 pages double-space, and his news 'top' which I draft at around seven in the morning, covering the major items in the Eastern press that morning and the Chicago Tribune."

"Finally, this is not an effort to engage in a quarrel, or to do a little nitpicking or cavil on the ninth part of a hair. We think that seen in its entirety the President's Daily News Summary — a four-or-five-part daily briefing running up to fifty pages — can stand the scrutiny of the most objective reporters."

WASHINGTON WHIRL

Julie's Junket — One advantage of being Julie Nixon Eisenhower is that she can live with her Navy husband, David, at Virginia Beach and keep up her studies in Washington 150 miles away. Julie flies to Catholic University once a week in an Air Force plane to do graduate work in education. Then she zips back a day or two later to be housewife for David, who is attending a Navy navigation school at Dam Neck, Va. A White House spokesman explained that President Nixon, as the urging of the Secret Service and former President Johnson, tries to use Air Force transportation for his family rather than take security risks with ground transportation.

Missing Marker — J. Edgar Hoover, already furious over the burglarizing of an FBI field office, has hushed up another humiliating theft. His birth plaque is missing from its place of honor in Washington's Capitol Hill Methodist Church. The bronze marker, commemorating the birthplace of the revered FBI chief, disappeared several weeks ago from beneath the John Edgar Hoover Memorial Window. The Rev. James P. Archibald, the pastor, reported the theft to the Washington police, not the FBI.

Alcoholics Insolvent — The White House, which has done a lot of preaching against alcoholism, has failed to request a penny to prevent alcoholism and to rehabilitate alcoholics.

Radical School Reformer

By LYNN SHERR
Associated Press Writer

The only thing wrong with the nation's public schools is that nobody learns anything there, says James Herndon, 44, a rangy school teacher and author whose recent criticisms of U.S. education have won him a niche in the pantheon of radical school reformers.

"America's schools were invented as a place for people to learn certain things related to work — like getting to work on time," he said in a recent interview. "A big thing in school is not being tardy to class. But it really doesn't matter because there ain't nothin' goin' on in class."

"And there's no use training kids for work now, 'cause there ain't no jobs," he said.

A 13-year veteran of the California school system, where, he said, he found more concern with triplicate absence forms than with kids' minds, Herndon blamed restrictive official lesson plans for much of the lack of learning.

"There are no kids who can't read, like there are no kids who can't add," he said. "But with all the procedures and tests and scoring sheets, the kid says learning to read must be hard. So in school, he can't read."

Once, Herndon taught his eighth-graders how to read by ignoring the standard textbook methods and simply providing good books. But, he complained, his "innovative" classroom wound up "as a safety valve" for the rest of the school, rather than as a catalyst for change. "They began to farm kids out to us — everyone who couldn't make it," he recalled. "What they were saying was, 'Good, now we don't have to change.'"

As a result, Herndon decided that everyone should quit worrying about short-run reforms such as smaller classes. "We should get rid of compulsory education laws," he said. "That will change things! If a kid who's just been chewed out can just get up in the middle of class and leave, then schools, will have to get better. They'll have to offer some way to make the kids stay if they want their federal money," he explained.

Indians Ask Moratorium

A coalition of environmental organizations and American Indians have asked for a moratorium on all Federal action related to electric power developments they fear will devastate the heart of the scenic southwestern United States.

The Native American Rights Fund, Environmental Defense Fund and National Wildlife Federation told Interior Secretary Rogers Morton a mammoth system of coal-fired power plants, strip mines, high voltage transmission lines and related developments seriously threaten the fabled Four Corners area of Colorado, Utah, New Mexico and Arizona.

By 1985, an association of about 20 southwestern utilities plans to generate more than 36 million kilowatts of electricity in the Four Corners area to serve Phoenix, Tucson, Las Vegas, San Diego and Los Angeles.

On The Right

Nixon Headed For Period Of Rough Times

By WILLIAM F. BUCKLEY JR.

Richard Nixon is in for a very rough time during the next period. He does things to people, causing even very decent folk to behave quite incomprehensibly. Joe McCarthy had the same knack. I used to point out that I never knew anything McCarthy had said that could equal in villainess some of the things that were said about him.

Take, for instance, Mr. Allard Lowenstein. He is a civilized man, of incontinent idealism, who will be remembered as the person who launched the program to retire Lyndon Johnson in 1968 by fielding an opponent in the Democratic Primary in New Hampshire. Subsequently, he served a term in the House of Representatives, and now he is back on the road, organizing to beat Mr. Nixon in 1972. He stopped by recently at the John F. Kennedy Center at Harvard, where he delivered a paean on the memory of Robert F. Kennedy. Then he announced his plans, making the remark that "Nixon is making Johnson look retroactively very credible, which is an extraordinary achievement when you think about it."

Now we are all used to the hurly-burly of polemics, but when you stop to think of it, in what significant way has Nixon

let the liberals down? Or, more exactly stated, in what significant way has he deceived them? He never said that he would have American troops out of Vietnam within six months or 16 months of taking office. He said he would wind down the war, and he has done so. He said he would pull out of Cambodia by the end of June, and did; said that American foot soldiers would not fight in Laos, and they haven't. What is Lowenstein so excited about? It is mysterious. It is partly what Nixon does to Lowenstein, and partly what Lowenstein does to Lowenstein, because Al Baby is going to be looking pensive and sad about the state of the world before the New Hampshire primary of 1996, when he will announce that the world cannot survive a second term by John-John.

Then there is the columnist and author Garry Wills who, did one not know that he is capable of making distinctions only Bertrand Russell and Alfred North Whitehead could follow, is beginning to sound like a slogan-writer for the John Birch Society.

For instance, there were those (myself included) who commented that Mr. Nixon's recent refusal to give a date when all American troops would be out of Vietnam was a sign of courage, given the clear indication, that the overwhelming majority of the American people desire to be given such a date. Wills' comment? "I prefer heroes who are not 'brave' but other men's lives." At an intellectual level, that comment is the equal of "If you don't like our foreign policy, why don't you go live in Russia."

Mr. Wills, if he would permit himself to reflect on the matter, would recognize that we are called upon, in our lifetime, to be courageous in different ways. As soldiers, we are asked to show courage on the firing line, and it is reported that, when Mr. Nixon was a soldier, he did so. Later in life, courage is needed in many different situations, in facing personal, and public crises. Is Mr. Wills saying that it is improper to consider the courage of Julius Caesar, or Alexander the Great, or Napoleon Bonaparte, or Winston Churchill, because more often than not they were engaged not in exposing their own lives to the enemies' weapons, but the lives of the soldiers whom destiny put them in command of?

Wills then takes offense at Billy Graham who, commenting on the fate of Lt. Calley, said "Perhaps it is a good time for each of us to re-evaluate our life. We have all had our Lais in one way or another, perhaps not with guns, but we have hurt others with a thoughtless word, an arrogant act or a selfish deed." Observes Wills: "To equate My Lai... with a thoughtless word does not so much diminish My Lai's importance as destroy any claim Graham has to speak seriously about morality."

Really, it requires the Nixonization of the spleen, so to affect a critic's reasoning powers. Graham did not equate My Lai with "a thoughtless word," he observed merely that many men are tempted by special circumstances to quite hideous lengths. The objective harm done differs: perhaps it is the killing of helpless children, as at My Lai. Perhaps it is the psychological castration of the human being, as in Albee's Virginia Wolfe. Sadism, hysteria, and thoughtlessness, in different mixes, are generically responsible for My Lai, and for some of the criticisms made of public figures. Garry Wills has written imploring me please to learn to distinguish between Fathers Daniel and Philip Berrigan, and I am writing back today promising to make the effort, in return for which I ask that he learn to distinguish between Nixon and Satan.

Business Mirror

'Too Little Analytical Intelligence'

By JOHN CUNIFF

AP Business Analyst

You hear the charge more frequently than ever when businessmen take time out for cocktails during panels, seminars, annual meetings and other affairs of their calling:

"We're attacking the job of peaceful progress as we attacked the war, with great hopes and emotions, too little analytical intelligence, and a disregard for the costs involved."

Noble, humanitarian ambitions, these critics say, are understandably an ingredient of great undertakings and may also be their sustaining energy. Individuals and groups which can't agree on small issues find it easy to unite behind great goals.

"Who is there that doesn't want to eliminate ignorance, poverty, crime, disease, hunger, foul air and polluted water?" asks Arjay Miller, former president of Ford Motor and now dean of the Stanford Graduate School of Business.

The answer, of course, is that nobody who believes in the dignity of the human being can very effectively argue against such goals. But, the businessmen ask, how do we approach the job and how do we pay for it?

"Whenever a businessman is faced with a difficult choice,"

Miller told an audience here, "the first thing he does is determine the facts. Before he approves a new product or program, he first determines how much it will cost."

Miller suggests that this isn't being done and that the legacy could be "discouragement, frustration, despair and anger." These might be recognized also as ingredients of urban and campus discord and riots.

More attention must be paid to the practical aspects of our ambitions, Miller argues, noting that the matter of costs seemingly was disregarded by Congress in passing the Clear

Air Act amendments of 1970.

"How much will it cost to meet these standards?" he asks. "$1 billion, $2 billion, $10 billion, $50 billion? No one seems to know."

Without knowledge of the costs involved, Miller argues, "Congress is now pushing ahead with further legislation to tighten environmental and safety standards."

He suggests that a National Goals Institute would enable "legislative bodies and sincere citizens in all walks of life to reach decisions based upon comprehensive and factual cost information."

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Tuesday, April 20, the 110th day of 1971. There are 255 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1775, the siege of Boston began in the American Revolution.

On this date:

In 1657, Jews in New Amsterdam were granted equal rights and privileges of citizens. In 1662, Connecticut was granted a royal charter extending to the Pacific Ocean.

In 1836, the U.S. Congress established the territory of Wisconsin.

In 1861, Col. Robert E. Lee resigned his commission in the U.S. Army to join the Confederate cause in the Civil War.

In 1889, Adolf Hitler was born in Austria.

In 1945, in World War II, the U.S. 7th Army captured Nuremberg, Germany.

Ten years ago — It became clear that Cuban exiles had been defeated in the Bay of Pigs invasion and that the United States had been more seriously involved than admitted at first.

Five years ago — U.S. planes were carrying out their closest attacks to the key port of Haiphong in North Vietnam.

One year ago — A Cuban exile group, Alpha 66, said it landed troops in Cuba to try to reach the mountains and begin a guerrilla war in the same area where Fidel Castro's revolution was born.

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

Do You Need a Psychiatrist?

DO ALL people with a neurotic problem need the help of a psychiatrist?

Mrs. N.J., Calif. Dear Mrs. J.: That depends upon the severity of your problem. When a neurotic problem interferes with a woman's ability to be a competent mother, a good wife, and a contributing member of the community, specialized psychological help is necessary.

Likewise, when men fail as husbands, fathers, or in their jobs, the same help is needed.

In many instances, the general family physician is in a good position to help uncover the basic cause of mild neuroticism. This, of course, means that you must frankly and honestly talk about your problem.

It may be necessary to make a special appointment with your family physician when he is relatively free and can give you the time you need.

Talking out your problem with a sensitive, well-trained listener can often pinpoint the difficulty, without the need for psychiatric help.

If the family doctor feels that the problem is too complex and needs the specialized help of a psychiatrist or psychologist, he will recommend one.

Can a plastic surgeon predict the exact shape of a nose after an operation?

We want to have it done for our daughter, but we wonder if she will be satisfied with the result.

Mr. & Mrs. S. T., N.J.

Dear Mr. and Mrs. T.: This is a most important question, and I hope I can help you to make your decision.

Far too often, patients about to undergo plastic surgery want an exact description of the post-operative appearance of the nose. In fact, many will specify their preferences.

I know of many instances where plastic surgeons were accused of promising a specific result when such promise or guarantee was never made. In their anxiety, patients frequently misinterpret, forget, or even distort the conversations with the plastic surgeon that took place before the operation.

The result is that many good operations bring disappointment, rather than enchantment.

Plastic surgeons can, of course, perform the mechanical aspects of surgery. But predicting the post-operative shape of the nose is just not possible.

Some noses are remarkably simple to re-shape; others can be extremely difficult. Improvement almost always occurs, but even the most skillful surgeon cannot re-create the profile of an imagined movie star.

Baltimore Earns Revenge, To Meet Bucks Tomorrow

By BRUCE LOWITT
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — "Milwaukee?" said Gene Shue, a weary grin spreading across his face. "I'm not even thinking about the Bucks. I'm too happy!"

The often volatile coach looked as exhausted and elated as his Baltimore Bullets Monday night after they finally gained two seasons worth of revenge against the New York Knicks.

The Bullets, withstanding a four-quarter rally on the court — and game-long pandemonium by the 19,500 fans surrounding it in Madison Square Garden — beat the Knicks 93-81 for the National Basketball Association's Eastern Conference crown.

That sends the Bullets into the best of seven championships against the Bucks, who cruised to the Western title by conquering the San Francisco Warriors and Los Angeles Lakers in five games apiece.

The confrontation begins Wednesday night in Milwaukee, nationally televised by ABC — as all the championship games will be — starting at 9 p.m. EST.

In Monday night's only other playoff action, Ray and Charlie Scott tossed in 30 points apiece as the Virginia Squires defeated Kentucky 150-137 to take a 2-1 lead in their best-of-seven American Basketball Association Eastern Division finals. Utah, leading the Western series 2-1, hosts, Indiana tonight.

Baltimore was shooting not only for the chance to face Milwaukee — the winningest team in the NBA this season — but for a chance to end frustration that began with the 1968-69 season.

They won the regular-season Eastern title that time only to be knocked out by the third-place Knicks in four straight games in the first round of playoffs.

Then, last year, after losing five of six regular-season games to the Knicks, Baltimore again faced them in the first round — and again the Bullets lost, this time in seven games.

This season the Knicks again dominated, beating the Bullets in four of six games, then taking the first two playoff games in New York.

Baltimore finally woke up at home however, and smothered the Knicks twice to even the series. Each team then won its next home game to set up the finale.

The Knicks had held leads of 21-19 after one period and 47-43 after two. But a foul shot and two field goals put the Bullets in front in the opening minutes of the third quarter and they pulled away to a seven-point lead — the biggest by either team — in its closing seconds.

New York slowly battled back and finally went in front 88-87 with 2:44 to go on a lay-in by Dick Barnett, New York's top scorer with 26 points.

But Monroe, who topped Baltimore with 26, got the Bullets back on top with a 15-foot jumper just 10 seconds later and they stayed there the rest of the way.

Fred Carter's 19-footer with about a minute to play was the deciding, giving them a 93-89 lead. Walt Frazier got the Knicks back within a basket moments later and the flashy guard, using center Willis Reed as a shield, was supposed to shoot for the equalizer when they got the ball with 11 seconds to play.

But the Baltimore defense stiffened and Frazier was forced to pass to Bill Bradley, whose 15-footer was tipped by Wes Unseld and fell short.

"I'm realizing it slowly, but it'll be a few days before I really feel it," Frazier said. "But the hard part comes when I have to watch the championship series on television."

And Reed, who hit 24 despite being hobbled by bad knees and a painful right shoulder, added: "Everything being equal, they outplayed us in the series. If they play as well as they did against us, they could give Milwaukee a real battle."

PLANS COMEBACK — Ken Venturi, former U. S. Open champ who once thought arthritis had knocked him off the pro circuit for good, shows how he can again grip the golf club. Venturi says surgery on his arthritic hands was so successful he'll return to the pro circuit next month, playing in a tourney starting on May 13 in Houston. Venturi is currently working with members of the Professional Golfers Association in Italy. (AP Wirephoto)

GIANT ANNOUNCER RUSS HODGES DIES

MILL VALLEY, Calif. (AP) — Russ Hodges, for 22 years the voice of the Giants National League baseball club on radio and television, is dead at 60.

Hodges collapsed at his home here Monday night and was dead on arrival at Marin General Hospital. An autopsy was scheduled to determine cause of death.

Just in February, Hodges was guest speaker at the fall sports banquet held at Los Molinos High School. "I'm one broadcaster who's not going to just fade away," he told the 200 in attendance.

Although he retired from fulltime broadcasting after the 1970 season, Hodges continued on the Giants' public relations staff and occasionally did broadcasts.

He was best remembered for his broadcast of the Giants' playoff game with the Brooklyn Dodgers in 1951, prior to the club's move from New York to San Francisco in 1958.

When Bobby Thompson hit a home run to win the playoff, Hodges shouted into the microphone over and over again: "Giants win the pennant! Giants win the pennant!"

His "Bye-bye baby" when a player connected for a home run was well known to thousands of fans.

Redwood City Runner Wins Marathon

BOSTON (AP) — Alvaro Mejia, an unemployed metal worker from Colombia via Redwood City, was the proud owner of a diamond studded solid gold sunburst medal and a laurel wreath today after a dramatic victory in the 75th Boston A. A. Marathon.

The 30-year-old Mejia, who finished 10th in the 10,000-meter run in the 1968 Olympics, registered his greatest triumph by out-kicking favored Irish Pat McMahon Monday in a starting race to the wire at the end of the 26-mile, 385-yard grind from Hopkinton to Boston.

Mejia, who edged McMahon in the Colombian's first marathon in California earlier this year, and the former Irish Olympian, now a school teacher in nearby

Lowell, engaged in one of the hottest duels in BAA history.

They ran abreast virtually all the way, often accidentally bumping elbows and even sharing water-soaked sponges handed one or the other by spectators. Then, with the finish line just around the corner, Mejia, turned sprinter and hit the wire about 20 yards ahead of his weary rival.

Mejia was timed in 2 hours, 18 minutes, 45 seconds, just five seconds faster than McMahon.

Mejia said he was laid off from his job five weeks ago, just two weeks after his wife gave birth to a son. His wife is the former Terry Slickler, a U. S. Olympic team diver. They met while she was in the Peace Corps and they plan to return to Colombia.

Giants Capture Ninth Straight Win, 4 To 2

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

There's a job for Ron Bryant in the San Francisco Giant's starting rotation, but he may become eligible for unemployment compensation waiting for it.

The 23-year-old left-hander took over for ailing Frank Reberger with none out in the first inning Monday and went the rest of the way in a 4-2 triumph over the San Louis Cardinals. It was the Giants' ninth consecutive victory.

With Juan Marichal and Gaylord Perry slated to pitch tonight and Wednesday and off-days scheduled Thursday and next Monday, it will be late next week before Bryant gets his shot.

Bryant relieved Reberger with two runners on base and Jose Cardenal's double put the Cardinals in front 1-0. But the Giants quickly tied it up against Jerry Reuss on Willie Mays' double and a single by Dick Dietz and took the lead in the third on Chris Speier's single, a walk to Mays and another single by Dietz.

Bryant singled in the fifth and scored on a bases-loaded walk and Bobby Bonds crashed his fifth home run of the season for the final tally. Bryant yielded eight hits and fanned eight. He finally gave up a run in the ninth on two singles rapped around a wild pitch.

Elsewhere on a slim major league schedule, Los Angeles defeated San Diego 3-2, Minnesota outlasted Kansas City 9-8 and Cleveland nipped Boston 5-4 in 13 innings.

The Padres took a 2-0 lead off Don Sutton in the first inning on four singles and a walk, but the Dodgers bounced back with a run in the third on doubles by Willie Davis and Wes Parker. They won it in the eighth when Davis and Parker singled and, after a sacrifice and an intentional walk, Billy Grabarkewitz lashed a two-run double.

Harmon Killebrew drove in six runs as Minnesota built a 9-0 lead and then survived a Kansas City counter-attack, including Bob Oliver's grand slam homer.

Killebrew delivered a two-run single in the first, a run-scoring grounder in the second and his second homer of the season, a three-run shot, in the third. The Royals nicked Jim Kaat for a run in the fourth and chased him with a seven-run outburst in the fifth.

Roy Foster's two-run homer in the 13th inning lifted Cleveland past Boston in the Red Sox' annual Patriots Day game. The homer, off Bill Lee, followed a lead off walk to Graig Nettles. The Sox scored a run in their half of the inning before Ray Lamb picked up the final out with two runners aboard.

Former Red Sox slugger Ken Harrelson put the Indians in front with a three-run homer in the fourth but Boston tied it with two in the sixth and an unearned tally in the eighth.

Ali Trial Continues

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chief lawyer for Muhammad Ali has told the Supreme Court the government's case against the former heavyweight champ is wrapped in prejudice.

According to Chauncey Eskridge, Solicitor General Erwin N. Griswold's arguments against the fighter's appeal of a draft evasion conviction was filled with bias against both Ali and his black Muslim religion. Griswold denied the claim as both sides stated their arguments Monday before the Supreme Court.

Eskridge told the high court Ali was opposed to fighting all but holy wars — those declared by Allah.

Ali was not present for the 60-minute session before eight justices. The ninth justice, Thurgood Marshall, disqualified himself apparently because he was U. S. solicitor general when Ali's case was brought before the government.

BASEBALL GAMES ARE POSTPONED BECAUSE OF RAIN

Red Bluff High School will play Enterprise High School on the road tomorrow at 4 p.m. after the Spartans' game was rained out this afternoon.

Corning, which had a non-league contest scheduled with Trinity, announced it was going to cancel that contest. The Cardinals, who begin circuit action Friday night against Wheatland, will make up an earlier game on Saturday morning at 9.

Los Molinos' game with Hamilton City will be made up at an undetermined date in the future.

Girls Net Team Falls

Suffering its first defeat of the season, Red Bluff High School's girls tennis team will attempt to get back on the winning track tomorrow when they entertain Maxwell at 3:30 p.m.

Enterprise, winning five of the six singles matches, scored a 7-2 victory over the Red Bluff squad, with only Brenda Spencer winning a singles match during the day.

Miss Spencer came back to team with Roxanne Woods for the only other win during the day for the local squad in the doubles competition.

Two of the losses came in extra sets.

Four Local Athletes On Track Best Marks

Four Tehama County athletes and a relay team are all that appear on the latest list of best track and field marks in the Northern Section of the CIF on a list compiled by the Daily News.

Dennis Butler, although he was unable to improve his best marks in recent weeks, continues to rank high in the middle distance races. He is currently tied for the first spot in the 440 with Shasta's Chris Boudreau at 51.5 and remains behind Chico's Dave Garner in the half mile with a time of 2:01.8.

The remaining local athletes included on the top list are Ralph Rath and Tim Weston in the pole vault (both have done 12 feet) and Rick Jones in the high jump (he cleared 6 feet).

Corning's relay team of Chuck Ellis, Rath, Al Hockenson and John Wilson have clocked 45.7.

The pole vault is this area's strong event in the junior varsity-freshman division as well, with Los Molinos' Jerry Stephens leading the Northern Section with a vault of 12 feet, 1 inch. Jess Meeder is tied for second in that event at 11-6.

Other jayvees on the list include Corning's Bob Hultgren in the shot put and discus (tosses of 49-10 and 128-6), and Meeder, Stephens and Red Bluff's Skeeter Hess in the high jump with jumps of 5-8.

Best marks of the year in the varsity were in the hurdles by Pleasant Valley's Greg Den-smore with a 14.9 clocking in the 120 highs and a 20.2 time in the 180 lows; Enterprise's Gene Randall, with a shot put effort of 55-8½ and Orland's Skip Lohse, who has tossed the discus 151 feet, 1 inch in a closely contested event.

Among the jayvee events, Don Easley's 54.5 clocking in the 440, John Lewis' 138-5 discus throw and Stephens' pole vault are among the best efforts this season.

This Saturday, most of the athletes on this list will compete in the annual Corning Relays. Here are the best marks:

Baltimore Earns Revenge, To Meet Bucks Tomorrow

By BRUCE LOWITT
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — "Milwaukee?" said Gene Shue, a weary grin spreading across his face. "I'm not even thinking about the Bucks. I'm too happy!"

The often volatile coach looked as exhausted and elated as his Baltimore Bullets Monday night after they finally gained two seasons worth of revenge against the New York Knicks.

The Bullets, withstanding a four-quarter rally on the court — and game-long pandemonium by the 19,500 fans surrounding it in Madison Square Garden — beat the Knicks 93-91 for the National Basketball Association's Eastern Conference crown.

That sends the Bullets into the best of seven championships against the Bucks, who cruised to the Western title by conquering the San Francisco Warriors and Los Angeles Lakers in five games apiece.

The confrontation begins Wednesday night in Milwaukee, nationally televised by ABC — as all the championship games will be — starting at 9 p.m. EST.

In Monday night's only other playoff action, Ray and Charlie Scott tossed in 30 points apiece as the Virginia Squires defeated Kentucky 150-137 to take a 2-1 lead in their best-of-seven American Basketball Association Eastern Division finals. Utah, leading the Western series 2-1, hosts, Indiana tonight.

Baltimore was shooting not only for the chance to face Milwaukee — the winningest team in the NBA this season — but for a chance to end frustration that began with the 1968-69 season.

They won the regular-season Eastern title that time only to be knocked out by the third-place Knicks in four straight games in the first round of playoffs.

Then, last year, after losing five of six regular-season games to the Knicks, Baltimore again faced them in the first round — and again the Bullets lost, this time in seven games.

This season the Knicks again dominated, beating the Bullets in four of six games, then taking the first two playoff games in New York.

Baltimore finally woke up at home however, and smothered the Knicks twice to even the series. Each team then won its next home game to set up the finale.

The Knicks had held leads of 21-19 after one period and 47-43 after two. But a foul shot and two field goals put the Bullets in front in the opening minutes of the third quarter and they pulled away to a seven-point lead — the biggest by either team — in its closing seconds.

New York slowly battled back and finally went in front 88-87 with 2:44 to go on a lay-in by Dick Barnett, New York's top scorer with 26 points.

But Monroe, who topped Baltimore with 26, got the Bullets back on top with a 15-foot jumper just 10 seconds later and they stayed there the rest of the way.

Fred Carter's 19-footer with about a minute to play was the deciding, giving them a 93-89 lead. Walt Frazier got the Knicks back within a basket moments later and the flashy guard, using center Willis Reed as a shield, was supposed to shoot for the equalizer when they got the ball with 11 seconds to play.

But the Baltimore defense stiffened and Frazier was forced to pass to Bill Bradley, whose 15-footer was tipped by Wes Unseld and fell short.

"I'm realizing it slowly, but it'll be a few days before I really feel it," Frazier said. "But the hard part comes when I have to watch the championship series on television."

And Reed, who hit 24 despite being hobbled by bad knees and a painful right shoulder, added: "Everything being equal, they outplayed us in the series. If they play as well as they did against us, they could give Milwaukee a real battle."

PLANS COMEBACK — Ken Venturi, former U. S. Open champ who once thought arthritis had knocked him off the pro circuit for good, shows how he can again grip the golf club. Venturi says surgery on his arthritic hands was so successful he'll return to the pro circuit next month, playing in a tourney starting on May 13 in Houston. Venturi is currently working with members of the Professional Golfers Association in Italy. (AP Wirephoto)

Giants Capture Ninth Straight Win, 4 To 2

By HERSCHEL NISSENSEN
Associated Press Sports Writer
There's a job for Ron Bryant in the San Francisco Giants' starting rotation, but he may become eligible for unemployment compensation waiting for it.

The 23-year-old left-hander took over for ailing Frank Reberger with none out in the first inning Monday and went the rest of the way in a 4-2 triumph over the San Louis Cardinals. It was the Giants' ninth consecutive victory.

With Juan Marichal and Gaylord Perry slated to pitch tonight and Wednesday and off-days scheduled Thursday and next Monday, it will be late next week before Bryant gets his shot.

Bryant relieved Reberger with two runners on base and Jose Cardenal's double put the Cardinals in front 1-0. But the Giants quickly tied it up against Jerry Reuss on Willie Mays' double and a single by Dick Dietz and took the lead in the third on Chris Speier's single, a walk to Mays and another single by Dietz.

Bryant singled in the fifth and scored on a bases-loaded walk and Bobby Bonds crashed his fifth home run of the season for the final tally. Bryant yielded eight hits and fanned eight. He finally gave up a run in the ninth on two singles rapped around a wild pitch.

Elsewhere on a slim major league schedule, Los Angeles defeated San Diego 3-2, Minnesota outlasted Kansas City 9-8 and Cleveland nipped Boston 5-4 in 13 innings.

The Padres took a 2-0 lead off Don Sutton in the first inning on four singles and a walk, but the Dodgers bounced back with a run in the third on doubles by Willie Davis and Wes Parker. They won it in the eighth when Davis and Parker singled and, after a sacrifice and an intentional walk, Billy Grabarkewitz lashed a two-run double.

Harmon Killebrew drove in six runs as Minnesota built a 9-0 lead and then survived a Kansas City counter-attack, including Bob Oliver's grand slam homer.

Killebrew delivered a two-run single in the first, a run-scoring grounder in the second and his second homer of the season, a three-run shot, in the third. The Royals nicked Jim Kaat for a run in the fourth and chased him with a seven-run outburst in the fifth.

Roy Foster's two-run homer in the 13th inning lifted Cleveland past Boston in the Red Sox' annual Patriots Day game. The homer, off Bill Lee, followed a lead off walk to Graig Nettles. The Sox scored a run in their half of the inning before Ray Lamb picked up the final out with two runners aboard.

Former Red Sox slugger Ken Harrelson put the Indians in front with a three-run homer in the fourth but Boston tied it with two in the sixth and an unearned tally in the eighth.

GIANT ANNOUNCER RUSS HODGES DIES

MILL VALLEY, Calif. (AP) — Russ Hodges, for 22 years the voice of the Giants National League baseball club on radio and television, is dead at 60.

Hodges collapsed at his home here Monday night and was dead on arrival at Marin General Hospital. An autopsy was scheduled to determine cause of death.

Just in February, Hodges was guest speaker at the fall sports banquet held at Los Molinos High School. "I'm one broadcaster who's not going to just fade away," he told the 200 in attendance.

Although he retired from fulltime broadcasting after the 1970 season, Hodges continued on the Giants' public relations staff and occasionally did broadcasts.

He was best remembered for his broadcast of the Giants' playoff game with the Brooklyn Dodgers in 1951, prior to the club's move from New York to San Francisco in 1958.

When Bobby Thompson hit a home run to win the playoff, Hodges shouted into the microphone over and over again: "Giants win the pennant! Giants win the pennant!"

His "Bye-bye baby" when a player connected for a home run was well known to thousands of fans.

Redwood City Runner Wins Marathon

BOSTON (AP) — Alvaro Mejia, an unemployed metal worker from Colombia via Redwood City, was the proud owner of a diamond studded solid gold sunburst medal and a laurel wreath today after a dramatic victory in the 75th Boston A. A. Marathon.

The 30-year-old Mejia, who finished 10th in the 10,000-meter run in the 1968 Olympics, registered his greatest triumph by out-kicking favored Irish Pat McMahon Monday in a stirring race to the wire at the end of the 26-mile, 385-yard grind from Hopkinton to Boston.

Mejia, who edged McMahon in the Colombian's first marathon in California earlier this year, and the former Irish Olympian, now a school teacher in nearby Lowell, engaged in one of the hottest duels in BAA history.

They ran abreast virtually all the way, often accidentally bumping elbows and even sharing water-soaked sponges handed one or the other by spectators. Then, with the finish line just around the corner, Mejia, turned sprinter and hit the wire about 20 yards ahead of his weary rival.

Mejia was timed in 2 hours, 18 minutes, 45 seconds, just five seconds faster than McMahon.

Mejia said he was laid off from his job five weeks ago, just two weeks after his wife gave birth to a son. His wife is the former Terry Stickell, a U. S. Olympic team diver. They met while she was in the Peace Corps and they plan to return to Colombia.

Hearings For Elk, Antelope Hunts Scheduled In May

Hearings have been set by the California Fish and Game Commission on a special Rocky Mountain elk hunt and an antelope hunt, both proposed by the Dept. of Fish and Game.

The commission scheduled a hearing in the Federated Church Hall in Alturas, Modoc County, on May 18 on the DFG's proposal for a pronghorn antelope hunt in Modoc, Lassen and eastern Shasta and Siskiyou counties.

Four hundred permits would be issued for the hunt proposed for Aug. 28-Sept. 6.

Commission President Sherman Chickering will preside at a hearing at the Shasta County Courthouse in Redding, at 8 p.m. on May 19 on the proposed special hunt for 200 Rocky Mountain elk north and east of Shasta Lake in Shasta and Siskiyou counties. The proposed hunt would be held Nov. 13 through Dec. 9.

NEW PRESIDENT OF AAU

Ali Trial Continues

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chief lawyer for Muhammad Ali has told the Supreme Court the government's case against the former heavyweight champ is wrapped in prejudice.

According to Chauncey Eskridge, Solicitor General Erwin N. Griswold's arguments against the fighter's appeal of a draft evasion conviction was filled with bias against both Ali and his black Muslim religion.

Griswold denied the claim as both sides stated their arguments Monday before the Supreme Court.

Eskridge told the high court Ali was opposed to fighting all but holy wars — those declared by Allah.

Ali was not present for the 60-minute session before eight justices. The ninth justice, Thurgood Marshall, disqualified himself apparently because he was U. S. solicitor general when Ali's case was brought before the government.

Girls Net Team Falls

Suffering its first defeat of the season, Red Bluff High School's girls tennis team will attempt to get back on the winning track tomorrow when they entertain Maxwell at 3:30 p.m.

Enterprise, winning five of the six singles matches, scored a 7-2 victory over the Red Bluff squad, with only Brenda Spencer winning a singles match during the day.

Miss Spencer came back to team with Roxanne Woods for the only other win during the day for the local squad in the doubles competition.

Two of the losses came in extra sets.

Results:

SINGLES
Jane Hayes (E) def. Denise Martin (RB), 7-5, 6-1.
Gaylene DeCoito (E) def. Ann Baskins (RB), 6-2, 6-4.
Brenda Spencer (RB) def. Molly Brodie (E), 6-1, 6-1.
Sally Fitzgerald (E) def. Roxanne Woods (RB), 3-6, 6-2, 7-5.
Laurie Holbrook (E) def. Linda Wigno (RB), 6-2, 6-3.
Colleen David (E), def. Karen Jacobs (RB), 6-2, 6-0.

DOUBLES

LEGAL NOTICE NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS TEHAMA COUNTY ROAD DEPARTMENT TEHAMA COUNTY, CALIFORNIA

Sealed proposals will be received by the Board of Supervisors of the County of Tehama at the office of the County Clerk and Recorder, County Courthouse, Red Bluff, California, on or before Thursday the 29th day of April, 1971, at 10:00 A.M. o'clock, at which time they will be publicly opened and read in the Chambers of the Board of Supervisors, County Courthouse, Red Bluff, California, for constructing a highway in accordance with the plans and specifications therefor, to which special reference is made as follows:
Clear and grub debris, construct embankment and place rip rap around the East abutment of the Elby Road bridge over Red Bank Creek, 14 miles West of Red Bluff.

Plans, Special Provisions and other contract document forms will be available for examination without charge and may be obtained by prospective bidders upon payment of a printing and service charge in the amount of Two Dollars ($2.00) which amount shall not be refundable. All checks shall be made payable to Tehama County Road Department, Route 1, Box 4, Gerber, California.
The Board of Supervisors of the County of Tehama reserves the right to reject any or all bids and to waive any informality in a bid.

No bid will be received unless it is made on the proposal form furnished by the County Road Commissioner. Each proposal must be accompanied by a certified or cashier's check or bid bond in the amount of ten percent (10 per cent) of the estimated aggregate amount of the bid as a guarantee that the bidder, if the award is made to him in accordance with the terms of his proposal, will promptly execute a contract in the required form, secure payment of workmen's compensation insurance, and furnish a satisfactory faithful performance bond and a labor and material bond. Each of said bonds shall be in the sum of not less than one hundred per cent (100 per cent) of the estimated aggregate amount of the payments to be made under the contract, computed on the basis of the price stated in the proposal.

Pursuant to Section 1770 of the Labor Code, the County has ascertained the general prevailing rate of wages for the work to be done. These prevailing wage rates are as published by the California Business and Transportation Agency, "Equipment Rental Rates and General Prevailing Wage Rates". The rates for overtime, Sunday, and Holidays shall be in accordance with the various crafts agreements.

The provisions of Articles 2, 3 and 4 of Chapter 1, Division 2, Part 7, of the Labor Code, State of California, are made by this reference a part of this Notice of Receiving Bids.

The attention of the bidder is particularly directed to the provisions of Section 7 of the Standard Specifications regarding the use of domestic material; and also to the provisions of Section 8 of the Standard Specifications regarding subcontracting and assignment of the contract respectively.

Each bid shall be made in accordance with the specifications and proposal requirements thereof and no bid will be received unless it is made on a proposal form furnished by the Consulting City Engineer. Each bid must be accompanied by Cash, Certified or Cashier's Check, or Bidders Bond made payable to the City of Tehama, for the amount equal to at least ten per cent (10 per cent) of the total amount of the bid as a guarantee that the Contractor will execute the Contract in conformity with his proposal and the Specifications. Such guarantee shall be forfeited should the Bidder to whom the Contract is awarded fail to enter into the Contract.
No bid will be received from a Contractor who is not licensed in accordance with the provisions of Chapter 791, Statutes of 1929, State of California, as amended. The envelope enclosing the proposal shall have stated thereon, proposal for "I" Street construction, Tehama, California.
Specifications, Proposal and Contract Forms may be obtained at the Office of the Consulting City Engineer, Walter B. Grimes & Associates, 1356 Mangrove Avenue, Chico, California. A deposit of Ten Dollars ($10.00) check made payable to the City of Tehama will be required to assure their return and if returned in usable condition, within thirty (30) days from the date of opening of bids, the deposit will be refunded.
The City Council of the City of Tehama reserves the right to waive irregularities, accept or reject any or all bids, and make that award which is to the best interest of the City.
Pursuant to the provisions of Section 1770 of the Labor Code of the State of California, the City Council has ascertained the general prevailing rate of wages which are on file at the Office of the Consulting City Engineer.

California Ratifies 18-20 Year-Old Vote

By PETER WEISSER
SACRAMENTO (AP) — The prospect of how 1.1 million California youths between 18 and 21 will vote if given the chance mystified political leaders today, with independents and Democrats claiming a modest gain.

The state Monday became the 20th to ratify an amendment to the U. S. Constitution extending the vote in all elections to the young group.

Though most opposition to final Senate passage on a 25-10 vote was Republican, few politicians detected more than a slight gain in Democratic strength.

"The way it looks to me the Republicans are the losers and the winners are independents and Democrats," said Edmund G. Brown Jr., at 32 the nation's youngest secretary of state.

"It's going to be a more independent and a more skeptical vote."

Brown predicted young voters between 18 and 30 who comprise 28 per cent of the vote nationally will be more active than older adults.

"I think the key question is whether the independence shown in polls of the young is reflected in an abstention from voting in partisan primaries," guessed Houston I. Flournoy, the state treasurer.

Flournoy, 41, was the GOP's top vote getter last fall and ranks as a leading contender for the party's gubernatorial nomination in 1974.

Sen. George Moscone, D-San Francisco, mentioned as a Democratic hopeful for governor, said he expects that the young will vote intelligently.

Sen. H. L. Richardson, R-Arcadia, former GOP caucus chairman, said flatly: "Moscone, in my opinion will be the Democratic nominee for governor in 1974. Moscone will do well with the 18-year-old vote."

Moscone and other potential 1974 candidates refused to comment directly on how the voting block would affect their political destinies.

Congress last year voted to lower the voting age to 18 but the U. S. Supreme Court ruled that law applied only to national elections. The current amendment was drafted to allow the young to vote in state and local contests. Another 18 states, 38 in all, must ratify the measure.

Congress May Try Investment Credit

WASHINGTON (AP) — If economic recovery continues slowly during the next two months, Congress may try again a twice discarded remedy, the investment credit.

The credit allows businesses to charge off 7 per cent of their investment in equipment directly against their tax liability.

An even stronger version is being suggested now — a one-year 10 per cent credit, leveling off at 8 per cent.

The idea is to encourage businesses to commit funds quickly to plant modernization and enlargement, pushing substantial sums into the economy.

Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark, chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, says if the economy's performance in the second quarter of 1971 is unsatisfactory, the tax-writing committee will have to consider some forms of tax stimulus. The investment credit is one possible aid.

The economy rebounded strongly in the quarter that ended March 31, with a $28.5 billion increase in the Gross National Product.

While hailing the return, the administration acknowledged it was not as strong as had been hoped, and economists pointed out the comeback resulted partially from the end of General Motors strike late in 1970.

Mills said the course of the economy in the current quarter will be the crucial measure. One stimulus already is assured: The retroactive payment of a 10 per cent boost in Social Security benefits in June.

The investment credit, instituted in 1962 as part of President John F. Kennedy's program to get the economy out of recession, was suspended in 1966 as indications of inflation mounted.

It was restored in 1967, only to be repealed as part of the tax reform program enacted in 1969.

Battle-Dressed Vets Protest At Capital

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two thousand battle-dressed Vietnam veterans have temporarily shifted their antiwar protest from the streets of the national capital into the offices of Congress.

Still wearing their jungle camouflage fatigues and other bits and pieces of uniform, the veterans sought meetings with House and Senate members to tell how they turned against the war.

Initial reaction from the legislators was mixed.

"Those who have tended to be liberal on the war talked to us," said one veteran after initial visits Monday. "Those who have been more hawkish were 'out.'"

"Some people didn't like the way we dressed," said another, "but the way we are dressed was largely the way we dressed in 'Nam.'"

The sight of 2,000 uniformed ex-soldiers marching on their government Monday was a new twist for the antiwar demonstrations frequent in Washington over the past few years.

The scene at the west front of the Capitol gave something of the image of a battle zone, with several vets carrying toy copies of the M-16 rifles they lugged in Vietnam.

Traces of Navy blue and Marine olive drab speckled the predominantly Army crowd. There was a flak suit with Air Force wings on the chest, gold wings of a Navy pilot, bars of officers and stripes of sergeants. And berets of varied hue.

The faces were young, but grimmer than those of the usual student demonstrators.

"Unlike the demonstrators of the past, we know from experience what the war is like," proclaimed the Vietnam Veterans Against the War which is sponsoring the week-long protest.

In addition to congressmen, they are visiting the Veterans Administration to ask more aid for returning servicemen, the Labor Department to seek help in finding jobs, the National Institutes of Health for better care for drug-plagued Vietnam veterans.

The veterans are bivouaced on the Mall before the Capitol. A federal appeals court lifted part of an injunction Monday which had allowed them to stay there Sunday night provided they didn't sleep.

They stirred early Monday and marched to Arlington National Cemetery where a memorial service was conducted by a former chaplain. But the mother and widow of two men killed in the war were not allowed to place wreaths in the cemetery.

Pit River Jury Selection Method Challenged

SACRAMENTO (AP) — A challenge of jury selection methods, the last of three defense motions, is slated for a hearing today leading up to the trial of 35 Pit River Indians and their sympathizers charged with trespassing.

If Municipal Court Judge Michael Virga rules against the group, jury selection could begin Wednesday in the case stemming from arrests at a Pacific Gas & Electric Co. campground the group claimed as their own last June.

Aubrey Grossman, lone attorney defending the group that includes Indian activist Grace Thorpe, daughter of famed athlete Jim Thorpe, says current jury selection methods "systematically exclude Indians."

Agnew Expresses His Concern Over Table Tennis Team's Visit

WILLIAMSBURG, Va. (AP) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew has expressed concern privately over the American table tennis team's visit to China — and about possible adverse effects U. S. overtures toward Peking might have on the Nationalist government on Taiwan.

Agnew Monday told Republican governors here for a conference he was concerned by overemphasis on the Chinese tour by the 15 American athletes, and about the way their journey was reported in the United States.

"Basically, he was saying some of the things that were praised in China were things that would be criticized here," one GOP governor said.

Agnew also was quoted as expressing doubts about some aspects of current U. S. efforts at improved relations with China during a Sunday night conversation with a small group of Republicans. One man who was there said the vice president emphasized then that the United States still has commitments to the Nationalist government.

At a Monday luncheon, Agnew questioned the emphasis put on the table tennis tour and at the reactions of the U. S. travelers. He noted one of the Americans had described a 15-square-foot room as the apartment of a Chinese family, implying approval when the same quarters in the United States would have been criticized as evidence of poverty.

The China question also came up, said a Republican source, in an off-the-record session the vice president had early Monday morning with nine reporters.

The 2½-hour meeting with reporters began at 12:30 a.m.

when the vice president called the newsmen into his hotel room.

The St. Louis Post-Dispatch, not represented at the session, said it learned the vice president had expressed concern that the table team's visit and reception had trapped the United States into a disadvantageous position in world opinion.

Agnew was quoted by the newspaper as having objected to some press accounts of the trip, particularly the use of the word "exquisite" in one story to describe Chinese courtesy in matching less-skilled players against the Americans.

Nixon himself came to Williamsburg for a stern speech on welfare, saying that under the present system a person "can be rewarded for doing nothing."

MARKETS

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock market prices slipped lower today as investors began cashing in on gains from recent sessions.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials at noon was off 3.02 at 945.83.

Declining issues outnumbered advances by 6 to 5 on the New York Stock Exchange.

Analysts said the profit taking was quite normal after the sharp runup of recent days.

The Associated Press 60-stock average at noon was off 0.1 at 328.8.

Airlines, steels, rubber issues, mail order-retail and electronics were generally lower. Motors and chemicals were up while aircrafts, utilities, metals, rails and oil s were mixed.

Amex prices included Milgo Electronic, up 1¼ to 22¼; Dorsey, up 1¼ to 22¼; McCulloch Oil, off 1¼ to 54¼; Asamera Oil, off ½ to 21½; and Varo, up ½ to 4¼.

MORE ABOUT $2 Wage to $1.80 next Jan. 1 and $2 Jan. 1, 1973.

Mills' bill would raise the minimum to $2 effective Feb. 1, 1972.

A subcommittee headed by Dent opened hearings today on minimum wage legislation, including measures to increase the minimum to as much as $2.25.

The Labor Department said it does not yet have current figures on how many workers would be affected, but said a survey showed about 8 million were earning less than $2 an hour as of April 1970. The figure probably would be substantially less today because of general wage raises, a spokesman said.

The bill sets a federally financed income level of $2,400 for a family of four.

California Ratifies 18-20 Year-Old Vote

By PETER WEISSER
SACRAMENTO (AP) — The prospect of how 1.1 million California youths between 18 and 21 will vote if given the chance mystified political leaders today, with independents and Democrats claiming a modest gain.

The state Monday became the 20th to ratify an amendment to the U. S. Constitution extending the vote in all elections to the young group.

Though most opposition to final Senate passage on a 25-10 vote was Republican, few politicians detected more than a slight gain in Democratic strength.

"The way it looks to me the Republicans are the losers and the winners are independents and Democrats," said Edmund G. Brown Jr., at 32 the nation's youngest secretary of state.

"It's going to be a more independent and a more skeptical vote."

Brown predicted young voters between 18 and 30 who comprise 28 per cent of the vote nationally will be more active than older adults.

"I think the key question is whether the independence shown in polls of the young is reflected in an abstention from voting in partisan primaries," guessed Houston I. Flournoy, the state treasurer.

Flournoy, 41, was the GOP's top vote getter last fall and ranks as a leading contender for the party's gubernatorial nomination in 1974.

Sen. George Moscone, D-San Francisco, mentioned as a Democratic hopeful for governor, said he expects that the young will vote intelligently.

Sen. H. L. Richardson, R-Arcadia, former GOP caucus chairman, said flatly: "Moscone, in my opinion will be the Democratic nominee for governor in 1974. Moscone will do well with the 18-year-old vote."

Moscone and other potential 1974 candidates refused to comment directly on how the voting block would affect their political destinies.

Congress last year voted to lower the voting age to 18 but the U. S. Supreme Court ruled that law applied only to national elections. The current amendment was drafted to allow the young to vote in state and local contests. Another 18 states, 38 in all, must ratify the measure.

The Labor Department said it does not yet have current figures on how many workers would be affected, but said a survey showed about 8 million were earning less than $2 an hour as of April 1970. The figure probably would be substantially less today because of general wage raises, a spokesman said.

The bill sets a federally financed income level of $2,400 for a family of four.

Clothing Stolen From Albers

Thieves broke into Albers Milling Company on Madison Street during the night and made off with 10 shirts, three pairs of jeans and a sweater, according to the Red Bluff police department.
